PACIFICA'S EROSION PROBLEMS

Army Engineers Hear Desperate Story

A desperate picture of cliffs and beaches slowly eroding away was described by residents from one end of Pacifica to the other as they trooped up to a microphone at an erosion hearing held by the Army Corps of Engineers last Wednesday night.

Frightened and sometimes angry property owners testified that:

Scores of homes and businesses are coming closer and closer to the edges of eroding cliffs until some are in danger of dropping into the surf.

Individual property owners have spent tens of thousands of dollars each in desperate but often apparently futile attempts to save their investments.

Recreation beach areas are slowly being lost.

During the past 15 years, sections of land have been swept into the ocean at the rate of anywhere from 4 to 70 feet.

No quick relief was promised however, by Lieut. Col. R. H. Allan, district corps engineer from San Francisco, who conducted the first public hearing held by the federal agency before a jammed crowd of some 100 persons.

"We understand the sea," Col. Allan stated at the conclusion of the meeting. "And I want to give you a word of caution. The science of tidal hydraulics is an inexact one."

He pointed out it took years to develop a yacht harbor at Santa Cruz and said the corps must proceed "cautiously" in its present survey.

With a warning that "it will take time to do the job right," Allan promised, "If it is at all possible to come up with an economic solution to your problem we shall get one."

In most similar situations in Caliornia, Allan said, local agencies are expected to foot 50 per cent of the cost, although the federal government will pay for 75 per cent of cost in some cases where public recreational areas are concerned. He noted that any funds must be allocated by Congress.

In presenting the city's case Councilman Harold Feyge noted that, "It has taken us several years to reach this point." He added the problem is "extremely serious and critical."

"The entire ocean coast is subject to severe erosion which is continuing rapidly," Feyge continued. "Cliff and banks have fallen into the surf, and homes and commercial establishments are threatened. Recreation areas are progressively being reduced, until the very well-being of the city is threatened."

"In general," Feyge, Pacifica's former mayor asserted, "the city favors construction of groins or similar structures that would protect beaches and could be developed into jettys for fishing and boat launchings."

The first witness, Max Link, a resident in a row of threatened homes along Esplanade, said one piece of property near him has been eroded away for 70 feet.

"The beach has eroded away between 6 and 8-feet since we have lived there," Link asserted.

He pointed out that although residents banded together to retain a consulting engineer, they found that even if they spent $15,000 to dump highway rubble into the surf to save their homes they could not be assured the solution would work.

Another resident in the area testified she saw a fence, which had once been 30-feet inland, washed into the sea.

Feyge reported that owners of a trailer court on Palmetto Avenue recently had to spend $50,000 to save a row of mobile homes.

Tom Johnson, a resident of Ocean Park Manor, said he had watched the erosion for 18 years until "now breakers are throwing rubble on the streets."

He said a photograph taken in the twenties showed "a nice parking lot full of cars which no longer exists."

Half the width of the street in front of his home has been eroded away, he reported.

Paul Rushing, assistant city director of public works, said erosion between Paloma and Montecito avenues has been so

D. A. Assails Legion Unit For 'Insult'

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson in Redwood City yesterday flayed the American Legion, of which he is a member in good standing, for its "public insult" to Dr. Julio Bortolazzo because he allowed a Communist to speak at College of San Mateo last week.

Sorenson said the college president was "publicly degraded, embarrassed and insulted" by the Legion's "petty action" in removing Bortolazzo as a speaker on Americanism at the Legion-sponsored Boys' State in Sacramento this year.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the dispute, Robert Rouis, a Burlingame businessman, reported that he has received scores of calls from persons offering support and encouragement to his plan to recall the college board of trustees for allowing Mickey Lima, northern California secretary of the Communist party, to speak on campus.

Sorenson said that he felt the public hearing held by the college board on the night before Lima spoke was a "real fine exercise in the democratic process." He said speeches both for and against Lima's appearance were excellent. The meeting ended with the board backing Dr. Bortolazzo's action in extending the invitation, which was done at the request of the student body.

"Raw Deal"

"Then, to have the Legion withdraw the invitation to Dr. Bortolazzo to speak to Boys' State on Americanism was in

Industrial Park Meet Is Planned

A special adjourned meeting to discuss the huge Cabot, Cabot & Forbes industrial park in South San Francisco a mile east of Bayshore Freeway has been scheduled by that city council for Monday night.

The extra meeting was slated after several items concerning the industrial park appeared on the agenda Monday night, but with some information incomplete.

To be acted on, reported City Clerk Arthur Rodondi, are petitions for approval of a special assessment and bond financing for improvements, appointment of district engineers and attorneys, a resolution of intent to acquire and construct the improvements, and a resolution awarding sale of the bonds to Stone & Youngberg.

Stable Fire Cause Given

A spark from either a short in the wiring or from the exhaust of a pickup truck used in carrying hay to horses is listed as the possible cause of a fire that killed 38 horses in Colma two weeks ago.

According to Colma Fire Chief George Riccomi, the owner of the stable, George Holland had driven the truck through the stable 15 minutes before he left for the day. The spark apparently started some hay smouldering and a wind later fanned it into a blaze, Riccomi said.

The town of Colma has no ordinance governing the care of animals.

A county ordinance, however, requires that a person be present at all times. District Attorney Keith Sorenson said that a complaint must be lodged before the county can take any action.

Wires, Water and Work

D. C. INSTRUMENTATION

Complex Maze Backs Up That Tumbler of Water

By RON BATES

TO GET A glass of water, a Daly City resident need only walk over to a faucet and give the handle a slight twist to the right.

Behind that slight action, however, is a myriad of wires, transmission lines, dials, knobs, buttons, pumps, eight reservoir tanks, a big pump house at Niantic and Citrus Avenues and a number of people.

The mechanics of getting water from the ground to users was made quite a bit more efficient recently with the complete instrumentation of the city's water system, according to City Engineer William Chapman.

The instrumentation was accomplished at a cost of approximately $24,000, Chapman said, thanks to the efforts of two city employes.

Chief electrical inspector Henry Weisner and his assistant, Byron Ensinger, did the complete installation during their slack duty hours and saved the city approximately $30,216.

They did this in addition to maintaining the city electrical system, traffic lights, and street lights, completing minor capital outlay projects and inspecting all construction involving electrical work within the city.

The project took them almost a year.

THE INSTRUMENTATION eliminated several of the headaches that from time to time have plagued the water department. Chief among the headaches was the overflowing of reservoirs.

D.C. Man Dies In House Fire

A 65-year-old widower died in a fire in his home in Daly City Sunday night.

The victim, John I. Christ of 64 Garden Grove Drive, was found sprawled on the floor near a telephone he apparently had been trying to reach.

Assistant Fire Chief Herbert Ritzmann said the fire started in a sofa in the living room of Christs' split-level home and had smouldered for several hours.

Eventually, he said, the flames burned through the floor, spread to nearby walls and to a sub-basement below. The sofa dropped part way through the floor.

Ritzmann said it appeared that Christ was dozing in an upstairs bedroom when he smelled smoke and tried to reach the telephone in the dining room on the first floor.

He added that Christ's wife had died about a year ago and that the victim was living alone.

Firefighters applied artificial respiration after removing the victim from the house. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco.

Ritzmann estimated damage

S.F. WATER IN D.C.

A Sour Experiment

By RON BATES

AN EXPERIMENT by the Daly City Water Department recently has been termed a success "technical-wise" but a flop "taste-wise."

For a period of 24 hours, Daly City residents were completely dependent on San Francisco water.

All underground well sources in Daly City were shut off to find out if the city's daily needs could be satisfied by San Francisco in the event an earthquake sheared off its supply.

The experiment, masterminded by City Engineer William Chapman, however, was conducted at an inopportune time.

An increased bacteria count in the Crystal Springs Lake forced San Francisco officials to increase the chlorination of their water.

The result—the water tasted like it came from a swimming pool and pet fish began to die.

CHAPMAN SAID both his department and the water billing office received "quite a few" complaints about the heavy chlorination.

The bacteria discovered in the water is not harmful, Chapman explained. It is a test bacteria used as an index. The theory behind it is that if this bacteria can exist, so could harmful bacteria.

Court Rules That Silva Is Not Sane

Murder Suspect Committed to Atascadero

Timothy Lee Silva, charged with the murder of Broadmoof policeman Charles E. Manning January 6, was officially declared insane Friday.

He was ordered committed to the state hospital for the criminally insane at Atascadero.

Superior Court Judge J. A. Branson made the finding on the basis of the reports of five psychiatrists.

They all agreed that the 19-year-old college student cannot comprehend the nature of the proceedings and is incapable of aiding in his defense.

A jury trial on the sanity issue for next Wednesday was called off when attorneys for both sides agreed that the judge could decide the issue on the basis of the psychiatrists' findings.

The doctors reported that Silva thinks he is Superman and sticks twists of paper in his ears as antennae over which he says

Zonings for Apartments Are Granted

The Daly City Planning Commission approved a number of apartment zonings, including four close to the Westlake Shopping Center, in a marathon meeting last week at City Hall.

The crowded agenda, caused by cancellation of a commission meeting on the night of the Daly City municipal elections, saw the commission act on 32 items.

Four Doelger apartment projects and the tentative map for Westlake Unit No. 12, a new subdivision, were approved by the commission.

The four projects are located south of Southgate Avenue and adjacent to Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, south of Alemany Boulevard and adjacent to the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club, south of Alemany Boulevard on Poncetta Drive and on Coronado Drive near Southgate.

All four are to be built on property originally designated for commercial development.

Westlake Unit No. 12 will be built on property surrounding

DECISION URGED

North County Cities Tackle Hickey Log Jam

County officials said they felt some progress was made last week toward unblocking the financial log jam that has held up the westward extension of Hickey Boulevard from South San Francisco to Pacifica.

The County Board of Supervisors called the city councils of Pacifica, Daly City and South San Francisco to a special meeting in South San Francisco to talk over the problem. After the meeting, county officials expressed optimism that the problem was close to solution.

R. H. Hayler, district engineer of the Division of Highways, told the group that a decision on the Hickey extension is urgent because of plans for the construction of Junipero Serra Freeway.

Unless the Hickey project is in or under construction at the time the freeway comes through, Hayler said, no provision will be made for an interchange where the two routes are to intersect.

He said final plans for that section of the freeway are scheduled to be completed in July of 1965 and warned that planning on the interchange should start at least a year in advance of that.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson estimated the cost of the Hickey project from its present end at Junipero Serra Boulevard to the alignment of the future freeway at $859,000. Of this amount, $448,000 would be spent in South San Francisco and $411,000 in Daly City.

Wilson noted that South San Francisco officials do not support the project, which would require the razing of seven Winston Manor houses.

To "prime the pump," he said he would recommend that the county contribute $347,000 of the cost of the South San Francisco portion of the project.

He suggested that Daly City and Suburban Realty, which is developing the adjoining land in Daly City, share the remainder of the cost.

Daly City and the developer, Wilson said, should share the cost of the portion within Daly City. He said there would be a chance, however, that some county funds might be available to help the city with its share under the city-county road program to which the county has contributed $500,000.

South San Francisco would contribute to the project in a roundabout way. Mayor Pat Ahern said the city would contribute $50,000 toward the extension of Chestnut Street, which is entirely a county responsibility.

Councilman Frank Pacelli of Daly City told the group that firm arrangements have been made with the developer for putting the road through the city's jurisdiction.

It will be an 80-foot right of way instead of 102, as originally proposed by the county, however, Pacelli said. He said Daly City could take care of its part of the road and would not contribute to the part that lies in South San Francisco.

A Double Birthday

The Post will salute the 10th anniversary of the Miss Daly City contest Saturday—and at the same time pause to celebrate its own second birthday—by hosting previous winners of the annual beauty race at a noon luncheon.

The gala affair will be held in Joe's of Westlake Restaurant and 10 girls—including two who shared the Miss Daly City title one year—have been invited to participate.

It was exactly two years ago Saturday, May 9, that The Post published its first edition for North County readers.

Deadline for D.C. Contest Is Extended

Deadline for entry into the Miss Daly City contest has been extended to Friday, according to Fred Martin, chairman of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce sponsored event.

The extension has been granted to enable maximum participation in the chamber's tenth anniversary celebration, Martin said.

bad that the city's water and sewage systems have been endangered. He said the city has had to rebuild the road four to six times "at great expense."

A spokesman for the Ocean Park Manor Homeowners' Association said residents are concerned for their homes "because it won't be long" if the erosion isn't halted.

Feyge pointed out that a cliff was 25 feet away from the historic Mori's Point Restaurant only 10 or 12 years ago. Now it is within 3 feet of the building.

Nick Gust, owner of Nick's at Rockaway Beach, said 10 years ago he constructed a retaining wall at the cost of $10,000. Now he must build another at a cost of between $75,000 and $80,000.

And Feyge pointed out that high tides and strong winds destroyed a restaurant on Rockaway Beach several years ago.

He added the city declared Hewitt Avenue a major city street to get state gas tax funds for a seawall, which cost the city $20,000.

"We have witnessed tremendous changes in the upper Pedro Beach area," former Mayor Jean Fassler asserted.

"We have seen the ocean sweep across the highway, endangering low lying homes in the Linda Mar area. We have noticed the old Ocean Shore Railroad right of way, which has acted as sort of a dike, slowly erode away. If the breakthrough comes, it will create a real problem to adjacent areas."

Mrs. Fassler said she and her husband had attempted to dump rip-rap and fill to save their beachfront home.

Experiment Turns Sour

A fern-like weed imported from South America for use in aquariums, has been found abounding in the lakes. The week, known as myriophullum was apparently carried there by birds or other means and could be supporting additional bacteria life.

The extra chlorination was ordered by the Water Pollution Control Board.

Insofar as adequater water tie-ins with San Francisco. Chapman said Daly City could get by "quite well."

JESD Board Argues Over Unification

By PHYLLIS CLEMENTS

A heated discussion of school unification once again engulfed the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees Monday night.

The discussion evolved into some spirited disagreement among Mrs. Katherine Mullen, a trustee and a member of the County Committee on Schools Reorganization and other trustees over the committee's proposal to unify five North County School districts.

The committee will cast a final vote on its proposal tomorrow.

Board Chairman Thomas Noonan's twice-voiced opinion that "the county committee will not listen" was answered each time by Mrs. Mullen, who declared: "I resent this."

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas commented:

"We are wasting our time. We all know what happened. What frustrations I feel are not directed toward any individual committee member and certainly not Mrs. Mullen."

The board has gone on record as opposed to the county group's plan to combine the five districts into the area not covered by the Jefferson Union High School District.

Board member George Perry suggested that Mrs. Mullen introduce a motion at the committee's meeting tomorrow, asking that two configurations for unification of the north county schools be submitted to the state:

One with the elementary school districts of the Jefferson Unified High School District unified; the other to separate Laguna Salada.

Mrs. Mullen replied:

"I will not introduce such a motion. I have been against such a separation of Laguna Salada all along. You can ask another member of the county committee who feels differently to introduce the motion."

Perry said that since just such a stand had been agreed to by the Laguna Salada District, he did not think that the county committee "was doing a service to the people affected" by ignoring it.

During the discussion, Mrs. Mullen said the school boards had not made a great enough effort to reach agreement. She cited instances of south county districts that she felt had.

The contention of the other four board members was that the county committee erred badly in not including South San Francisco Unified School District in original discussions of north county unification.

Douglas commented wryly:

"It hurts when I laugh, but it was sort of funny—we'll listen to your proposals if they're what we want to hear."

Earlier, the board deliberated at some length on a letter to be sent to State Senator Richard Dolwig, expressing the board's sentiments on a pending education bill that would provide new funds for school districts if certain unification conditions were met.

Noonan and Douglas expressed the opinion that the senator would oppose the bill.

Board members agreed to send a letter recording their disapproval of any "mandatory unification procedures by the state legislature."

In other action, the board decided to discuss its leave policies at its next meeting.

Digging In!

Water Backed by Complex System

At times, they thought for sure the storage tanks were splitting open.

Before instrumentation, workers would have to travel across town to the reservoirs to measure the tanks' levels manually.

At some, the measuring was done by a rope and pulley affair, at others it was done by checking a stick in the water.

If the level was too high or too low, the checker would have to rush back to the pumphouse at Citrus and Niantic to handle the controls, which turned water on or off.

It took some guesswork to maintain a reasonable level. Faulty guesswork resulted in overflows or an inadequate supply of water.

Now everything can be controlled by one man at the pumphouse looking at a massive panel of dials, knobs and charts.

THE LEVEL of each reservoir can be seen at a glance at the charts and one operator can shut off one reservoir or fill up another with the mere flick of a switch.

The charts also provide a permanent record of water demands in the city at various times of the day and year. This facilitates Chapman's planning of improvement of the city's water system.

Varying water pressure in the homes is another headache eased by instrumentation. In some parts of the city, a certain pressure must be maintained to provide efficient service. Checkpoints have been set up to automatically insure that pressure.

A safety feature of instrumentation is a monitoring system at the central firehouse. If something malfunctions in the water system, an audible and visual alarm goes off at the firehouse and stays on until the malfunction is corrected.

The property came into Daly City last month after a land trade with Pacifica.

A petition by Argyle Investment Company of San Francisco to rezone property on the south side of Southgate Avenue and east of St. Francis Square Shopping Center from commercial and unclassified to apartments was considered.

City Engineer William Chapman said the zoning is consistent with the master plan for the area and the commission approved the rezoning.

Regarding other apartment projects, the commission:

Approved apartment zoning for property on the east side of Santa Barbara Avenue and outh of the San Francisco city line.

Denied a request from Louis and Donna Quan of 140 MacDonald Avenue to rezone property on the northeast corner of Allan Street and MacDonald Avenue from single family to multiple dwelling.

with the elementary school boards of Jefferson, Laguna Salada, Bayshore and Brisbane and the Jefferson High School.

The plan to organize the five school districts into one administrative unit was the subject of a public hearing last month. It has been opposed by the four elementary boards but backed by the Jefferson High School District.

If the plan receives an affirmative vote, it will be sent to the State Board of Education and then placed on the ballot for residents to vote on it. A plan must be submitted to the board by September.

The action was taken by the 28th Legion District in Pacifica last Friday night with representatives of the various posts in the district taking part. It was reported that a voice vote was almost unanimous. It was estimated that only about four of the 75 members present voted against the motion.

"As a member of the Legion," Sorenson continued, "you can be sure they didn't speak for me in that action and I don't think the representatives to the district meeting spoke for very many members of the Legion who really knew what happened. To my knowledge, there have been very few post meetings on the issue of whether Dr. Bortolazzo should be publicly degraded, embarrassed and insulted by this petty action.

"In effect they have stated that he is not a good enough American to continue his expressions to the young people at Boys' State on the subject of Americanism. In my opinion, having worked with him for years and seen him add to the stature of not only the College of San Mateo but the entire county as one of its leading citizens, I think he is the exemplification of a fine American and in every way an example that young boys could well follow."

Sorenson said he called Donald McNamara, commander of his Legion Post, Redwood City Post 105, last night and asked if anything could be done to change the post's position in the matter as represented by McNamara at the Pacifica meeting. McNamara said no, the district attorney reported, but added that there will be a discussion on the subject at the next post meeting on May 13.

"The quick reaction," Sorenson said, "when an action of this sort is irresponsibly taken, is to drop out of the organization."

THREE DISTRICTS

Summer School Signups Begin For N. County

Three North County School Districts are now conducting registration for their summer school programs.

Here is a roundup of data on the three programs, registration times and summer school classes:

The summer school session will open June 17 and run through August 7. Classes will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 12:15 p.m. each day.

Registration is now going on in the district's high schools and will continue through May 29.

Louis J. Martin, principal of the Jefferson High School District's adult education and summer school programs, said he anticipates an enrollment of about 1,250 students.

He said the summer session this year will include classes in such subjects as aeronautics, space science technology, communism, photography and an introduction to psychology.

Martin pointed out that daily attendance is required of students in the summer session.

Brochures, including bus schedules for the summer session, are available at the district's high schools.

Information and additional brochures may be obtained by calling the district office at PL 5-1666.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY

The district's summer school program will open June 29 and run through July 24 for those children now enrolled in grades two through seven.

Six schools will be teaching centers in the program: Thomas Edison, Fernando Rivera, Benjamin Franklin, Woodrow Wilson, Colma Intermediate and George Washington.

Summer school registration forms are now being filled out by parents of public and parochial school pupils. About 5,600 copies of the district's summer program announcement and registration forms have been sent home with students.

Included in this year's session will be these enrichment courses:

Advanced reading, arithmetic analysis, art appreciation, creative writing, elementary astronomy, home mechanics, homemaking, general science, music appreciation and fish and insect studies.

The program also will include a speech clinic as well as developmental-remedial classes.

Principals of the summer schools will be Edward Mosconi and Jess Parks. The director of the program is Asst. Supt. of Schools Dr. Vinton Stratton.

LAGUNA SALADA

Today is the final day of registration for the Laguna Salada District's summer school program.

Registration will be conducted at each of the district's schools from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Registration will be accepted in the order applications are completed. All students who live within the district and are now in grades one through seven at either private, parochial or public schools are eligible to attend.

If less than 500 pupils enroll, the program will be cancelled, district officials said.

Parents and students will be informed by mail of acceptance in the program. The notification will designate teacher, classroom and transportation arrangements.

Reading, arithmetic, language skills and social studies will be taught to pupils in grades one through three.

Students in fourth through seventh grades will be offered an elective class in addition to the basic subjects. The electives include art, dramatics, journalism and science.

Youngster Badly Hurt In Accident

A four-year-old Daly City boy was critically injured about 6 p.m. last Wednesday when he was struck by an auto on Alemany Boulevard, near Lake Merced Boulevard.

The victim, Timothy Urrutia, of 19 Santa Elena Drive, suffered a fractured skull and a severely cut right foot.

He was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco and then transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Oakland.

The driver of the auto, Hilary J. Dunning, 48, of 654 Parkview Circle, Pacifica, told Daly City police the boy had dashed against the side of her car as she was proceeding in the left lane.

She added that the youngster was almost across the right lane when she first saw him and that he apparently did not see her car.

Hospital officials said the severity of the cut on the boy's foot might require amputation, according to police.

More Anchor On Thornton Line Advised

Engineers have taken a close look at the North San Mateo County Sanitation District's $350,000 Thornton Beach outfall line and recommended that another $20,000 be spent on further anchorage.

The inspection had been planned before the collapse of the Shapr Park outfall line in Pacifica.

According to Engineer-Manager Robert Bernicchi the added anchorage will be at the furthest end of the outfall line.

Brown and Caldwell, consultant engineers, made the report after divers inspected the ocean bottom around the effluent sewage line, Bernicchi said.

The federal government will pay 30 per cent of all costs connected with the outfall line.

In other action, the board awarded a contract for $70,552 to Great Western Pipe Line Incorporated to construct a sewage line from the plant to the outfall line.

The board also approved a new testing procedure for all effluent sewage treated at the plant. A laboratory is under construction at the plant enabling district personnel to conduct all required testing of sewage effluent.

The laboratory is being designed by Bernicchi.

The board received approval of the district's annexation of 570 acres in the Serramonte development. Bernicchi was authorized to formulate an annexation agreement with the Serramonte developers, Suburban Realty Company.

Resin Use to Be Explained

A professional demonstration in liquid and paste resins will be given from 7:30 to 10 p.m., Thursday, May 14, in the cafeteria of Westmoor High School.

The demonstration will be sponsored by the Westmoor Adult Evening School in co-operation with the YWCA and Seymour's of Westlake.

Personnel from Fitzgerald Enterprises will show the audience how to design table tops, lamps, lampshades and other decorative household objects.

The demonstration will be open free to the public.

Open House Set By Toastmasters

Pacifica PM Toastmasters will hold an open house program at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Red Cross Building at 600 Palmetto Drive, Pacifica, this week.

Speeches on such topics as "lack of harmony between teenagers and their parents" and "use of the American dollar" will be given by members.

Muni Route Study Asked

Plans for extension of San Francisco's Municipal Railways' bus service into Daly City began to move again Friday with a meeting of the council's Traffic Committee.

A request from San Francisco officials for possible routes was received by City Manager Edward Frank and studied by the committee.

Once the proposed bus line extensions are submitted, the San Francisco carrier will be gin cost studies on them, according to Councilman Francis Pacelli.

The Oath of Office

SUPERIOR COURT Judge Frank Blum administers oath to Jack Friedman of Daly City, recently appointed to the state board of dry cleaners by Governor Edmund G. Brown. Representing the governor at the ceremonies was Harold Brown, the governor's brother. Friedman, 10 Dixon Court, is well-known in the Peninsula dry cleaning industry. A crowd of some 65 friends witnessed the formal swearing-in Friday at municipal court chambers in South San Francisco. Friedman will serve a four-year term on the seven-member state board. SECOND ANNUAL FESTIVAL

Pacificans to Show Art Talents This Weekend

PACIFICANS will proudly show off their artistic talents this weekend in the city's second annual Festival of the Arts.

The exhibition of creative work will be held in a Spanish market square setting at the historic Sanchez Adobe State Monument at Linda Mar Boulevard and Adobe Drive in Pedro Valley.

The festival, free to the public, will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

The festival again will be sponsored by the Art Guild of Pacifica and a host of Pacifica organizations and clubs are expected to participate.

Strolling guitar players will add a musical touch to the proceedings both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

More music will be provided by the Terra Nova High School band under the direction of William Whalen and the Oceana High School band under T. L. Summa.

THE FESTIVAL will be directed by these key personnel: Angel Stewart, exhibition in oils; Louis Hays, watercolors; Donald Carlson, sculpture; Mrs. Henry Ewald and Otis Strong, textile painting; Larry Kempher, pottery; John Patterson, mosaics and Claire Drew, photography.

A display of children's art selected from Pacifica's schools will be sponsored by the Pacifica Chapter of the American Association of University Women, represented by Mrs. Hollis Sweeney.

Mrs. George Kennison and Mrs. Howard Stillman will be co-chairmen of this exhibit.

The Pacifica Friends of the Library will sponsor a book booth where book donations may be received.

An exhibit from the Fuschia Society of Pacifica will brighten the library group's booth.

AMONG ENTERTAINERS will be: guitar players Frank Ludwig and Jim Jimenez; Bob Louis, dancer; a quartet consisting of Mrs. Rod Dailey, Mrs. George Doherty, Per Hillerstrom and Cecil Cooper and an instrumental trio, Mrs. Pat O'Connor, cello, and Mrs. Otis Strong and Mrs. Louie Post, violins.

Art groups participating in the festival beside the Pacifica group include the Thirty and One Art Guild, the Millbrae Art Club, the Peninsula Art Association and the San Bruno Art Group.

Any artist who wishes to exhibit an original work in the festival may bring his work to the Sanchez Adobe between 8 and 10 a.m. Saturday.

All entries must be framed, wired and ready to hang.

Teacher Is Honored at Testimonial

More than 120 well-wishers crowded Brentwood Lodge one evening last week to pay tribute to Colma-6 school teacher Hester Blaylock who will retire at the end of the school year, terminating a 39-year teaching career.

At a testimonial dinner at the lodge, Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District and Eleanor Zenovich, principal of Colma K-6, lauded Miss Blaylock's long service to the district.

In a lighter vein, the entire Colma K-6 faculty entertained diners by singing parodies based on school affairs.

A slide projector and screen were presented to Miss Blaylock as the gift of parents, friends and fellow teachers.

And a memory box prepared by Penelope Hutchinson, a teacher at the Colma school, also was presented to Miss Blaylock.

The memory box contains records of reminiscences and events that people who have known Miss Blaylock wrote down for her to keep.

Mrs. Zenovich and Hazel Colwell were in charge of the dinner arrangements. Mrs. Colwell also served as mistress of ceremonies.

Basic Zoning Hearing Set

A public hearing on a new Basix Zoning Ordinance or Daly City was set for May 26 at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The new zoning ordinance with a number of innovations must first be approved by the Planning Commission before it goes to the city council.

CAMERA STOLEN

Cheryl Ann Kreeger of 398 Evergreen Drive, South San Francisco, reported to Daly City police this week that a camera had been stolen from her auto, parked at Wellington Avenue and Brunswick Street, Daly City.

THEFT REPORTED

Thieves stole tools and $6 in change from Colma K-6 School at Hillside Boulevard and Market Street, school officials reported to police Monday.

Coast Art Show Gets TV Boost

Pacifica's Festival of the Arts this weekend will receive a hefty publicity boost via television tomorrow afternoon.

A group of artists from the Pacifica Art Guild, sponsors of the festival, will demonstrate "art in action" on a special telecast from the festival at 3:30 p.m.

The program will be shown over KPIX, Channel 5.

Also appearing on the show, to be televised from the grounds of the Sanchez Adobe, will be Pacifica Mayor Fred Ballew and Vice Mayor Grace McCarthy.

Artists featured on the program will include Jefferson High School art teacher Don Carlson, sculpture; Vida Trout, mosaics; Lucille Kent, oils; Bob Southworth, prints, and Larry Kempher, pottery.

Art Guild president Otis Strong also will participate.

Arrangements for the show ing were made by Mrs. Henry Ewald, television publicity chairman of the guild. Also participating in plans for the telecast was the festival general chairman, Sydney Clark.

Mona Baker, Daly City television columnist, is production co-ordinator for the telecast.

Caryl Coleman heads the KPIX production staff for the show. He will be assisted by director Bill Hollenbeck.

Tickets Moving Fast for Daly City Firemen's Ball

Tickets to the annual Firemen's Ball, sponsored by the Daly City Widows' and Orphans' Association, have been selling at an unexpectedly fast pace, Frank Tardelli, chairman of the ball, announced this week.

"We only have less than two weeks left for our ticket drive and at this point it looks as if this year's dance will be the most successful in the 30-year history of the Firemen's Ball," he noted.

The ball will be held Saturday evening, May 23, at the War Memorial Community Center in Daly City.

The tickets at $1 each will also be available at the door.

Ticket holders will have an opportunity to win a raft of prizes. Top prize is a stereo console set.

"The firemen do a heck of a good job all year and the best way to show our appreciation is for all of Daly City to help make the annual Firemen's Ball a financial as well as social success.

Garden-Patio Show Opens in Westlake Mall

WILLIAM HUSTON, president of the Daly City Garden Club, works on a statue-fountain that will be a key part of the club's contribution to a 1964 garden patio exhibit planned by Westlake Shopping Center merchants in the center's mall. The exhibit will be open free to all shoppers.
(Post-Times Photo)

Show Participant Played Key Role in Fair Entry

William G. Huston Jr., one of the participants in the garden-patio exhibit that opened today in the mall of the Westlake Shopping Center, played a key role last year in bringing a top award to the Daly City Garden Club, of which he is president.

Huston planned the club's entry in the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta. The exhibit, a formal patio arrangement designed to promote a feeling of informality, won a first prize in the amateur division of the fiesta.

In the previous year, the club had won a second place award in the rock garden category.

For the Westlake garden-patio show, he has designed a garden arrangement with a statue-fountain in the center.

The show will be open free to shoppers today through Sunday. It's the first of its kind ever to be presented in the shopping center mall.

Exhibits, Show Latest in Garden-Patio Planning

A first-ever exhibit opened a five-day run today in the mall of the Westlake Shopping Center.

Participating in the show are a select group of landscape architects, contractors and nurserymen.

They include Walter Prehn, owner of the Daly City Floral Arts Nursery, William Huston, president of the Daly City Garden Club and Joe Cherolis, owner of Joe's Daly City Nursery.

The city of Daly City also is sponsoring an exhibit in the show, which will be under the direction of August J. Conci, superintendent of parks for the city.

The huge garden-patio will be open free to shoppers after 10 a.m. today through Sunday, Mother's Day.

Don Davis, manager of Penney's Westlake store, is in charge of arrangements.

Instruction In Arranging Flowers Set

A professional custom floral designer will be on hand at Penney's Department Store in the Westlake Shopping Center, starting today, to help teach women how to arrange flowers in attractive bouquets and designs.

He is Ted Allen from New York City. And he will be at the store in conjunction with the first Westlake Shopping Center Garden-Patio Exhibit, which opened today in the center's mall.

Allen points out that flowers no longer have a season, thanks to new life-like polyethelen plastic blooms.

He will show women how to arrange these flowers through special demonstrations.

Allen will be at Penney's from 11:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. today through Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

At shoppers' requests, he will arrange selections in attractive bouquets to match individual home decor.

Penney's will have a large collection of the latest colors and styles in the polyethelene blooms.

GOLD PAINT SPRAYED

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

LAST WEEK'S column had an entree that was rich in every sense of the world — using chicken breasts, ham, mushrooms, and almonds among other ingredients. And it was delightful and I heartily recommend serving it on a special occasion.

This week, we'll come back down to earth and start off with a recipe using our old standard ingredient, ground meat.

BEEF SQUARES WITH POTATO TOPPING

1½ lbs. ground meat
½ cup catsup or chili sauce
1 cup soft whole wheat bread crumbs (3 slices)
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 cups hot seasoned mashed potatoes

Combine all the ingredients, except the mashed potatoes and mix thoroughly. Pack in an 8 by 11-inch baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350-degrees) for 30 minutes.

Cut into 6 squares and place one-third cup of mashed potatoes on each square. Place under broiler just long enough for the potatoes to become lightly browned. Makes six servings.

THIS RECIPE comes from the cookbook put out by the mothers at Clarendon School in San Francisco and was contributed by Mrs. Harry O'Donnell.

I really am enjoying this little book and finding unusual and tasty recipes. It goes from A (appetizers) to Z (zee desserts) and today we will start with the A's. This recipe was submitted by Ricka Lee Robinow.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1½ lbs. large mushrooms
¼ cup butter
1 onion, chopped
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup ground Brazil nuts
1 tsp. salt
pepper
1 tablespoon catsup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 strips bacon
½ cup cream

Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Cook chopped stems and onion in butter for 5 minutes. Add crumbs and nuts and cook for two minutes more. Then add seasonings. Stuff mushrooms with this mixture, place in a large baking dish, garnish with narrow strips of bacon and pour cream around them. Bake in 400 degree oven for 25 minutes.

For "zee dessert," we'll use a recipe submitted by Dorothy McKeeman. And the name gives the clue to its quick and easy making.

QUICK CHERRY PIE

8-inch or 9-inch baked pie shell
½ pint whipping cream
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can cherry pie filling

Beat whipped cream with cream cheese and sugar, add vanilla and pour into cooled pie shell. Pour cherry pie filling over all. Chill and serve.

Newlyweds

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP STEVENS
(Milton Mann Studios)

Arline Weckerle, Phillip Stevens Exchange Vows

Arline Weckerle, daughter of Mrs. Charles Milton Weckerle of 15 Poncetta Drive, Daly City, became the bride of Phillip Fletcher Stevens, son of Thaddeus Stevens of 101 Delano Avenue, San Francisco, at a ceremony in Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City.

The bride is a graduate of Immaculate Conception Academy and attended San Francisco State College. She is employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

For her wedding, she wore a full length sheath of peau with scalloped neckline and long sleeves of lace and a full-flowing chapel train of lace.

Her veil was a lace crown with shoulder length tulle. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Weckerle wore a two-piece powder blue silk dress with matching shoes and bag.

Honor attendants were Sylvia Stevens and Mrs. James Comisky. The bride was given away by Joseph R. Mibach, her uncle.

The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and attended San Francisco State College. He enrolled at Heald's Engineering College.

The best man was Kenneth Pardini. James Stevens served as an usher. The couple honeymooned in Southern California and will live in San Francisco.

Dog Fanciers Start Classes

New classes in dog obedience started Thursday at the Pedro Point Firehouse, according to Joseph Kelley, president of the Pacifica Dog Fanciers' Club. New students may still be enrolled, however.

The classes for children, cosponsored by the club and the Pacifica Recreation Department, are held Thursdays, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Gordon Marshall is trainer of the children's classes.

Immediately following are classes for the adults. Beginners start at 7:30 p.m., advanced at 8:30 p.m. and open work at 9:30 p.m. Drop-ins those having graduated from dog obedience classes) are welcome to bring their dogs in any night to keep them in practice, Kelley said.

Judge for the evening was Mrs. Florence LoPresti, professional handler and trainer from the St. Francis Dog Training Club in San Francisco.

York Gallery Visit Mapped

A visit to York Gallery in San Francisco is scheduled for Daly City Y-Wives Tuesday. Dorothy Calloway will be the hostess. She will present a talk on color in room decorating before a tour of model rooms in the gallery's three floors.

Members are requested to meet and form car pools at Lincoln Park at 10 a.m.

Dahlia Group Sets Meeting

"The Dangers of Insecticides" will be discussed at a meeting of the Dahlia Society of California at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Hall of Flowers at Ninth Avenue and Lincolna Way in San Francisco.

Olympia School Festival to Be Staged Friday

Olympia School will hold its annual spring festival at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the school.

Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent for the Jefferson Elementary School District, will crown a festival king, Peter Storm, and queen, Joy Vamis.

Their crown bearers will be Susie Speier and John Batori. Attendants will be: Cindy Carr, Jodi Wyner, Lexi Morgan, Debbie Sanguinetti, Jack Wilson, Timmy Allen, Lester Laterza, and Mike Gill.

Guild Plans Style Show

The Mothers' Guild of St. Gabriel's Church will sponsor a fashion show at 8 Friday night in the parish auditorium. Clothes will be from The Fashion of Westlake. Wigs will be by Scissor-Fritz, furs by Minudri and make-up by Beauty Counsel.

FREE HAWAIIAN HOLIDAY FOR TWO

THIS WAS a typical scene at Skyline Plaza Shopping Center last week as shoppers began obtaining free drawing tickets for prizes to be given away in connection with the center's third anniversary celebration. Here, Mrs. Ida Stevenson of Daly City, right, fills out a ticket while Sally McCoy, a San Francisco State College student, looks on. She's one of several girls in Hawaiian dress who are staffing ticket booths at the plaza.

Drawing Tickets Hit Rapid Pace

Free tickets for a drawing for valuable prizes in the Skyline Shopping Plaza's current month-long third anniversary celebration are moving at a rapid clip, merchants reported this week.

Top prize in the drawing will be an all-expense-paid week's trip to Honolulu for two. The trip is being arranged in co-operation with United Airlines.

The plaza wore a mantel of Hawaiian dress and decorations this week as the celebration theme, "Hawaiian Holidays," was transformed into window displays and store exhibits.

Free tickets for the drawing are available at booths set up in the plaza. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays.

The drawing for prizes, which also include an all-expense weekend trip to Reno, two Big Boy Barbecue sets and a man's and woman's wristwatches, will be held at 8:15 and 9:15 p.m. Friday, May 22, at the plaza.

Ticket holders must be 21 years of age or older and must be present at the drawings to win.

MRS. NELLIE PHELPS of Nell's Fashions in the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center makes some last minute adjustments to manikins dressed in a Hawaiian motiff. It's all part of the center's third anniversary celebration. Merchants will award some lucky shopper an all-expense-paid trip to Honolulu via United Airlines. Nell is right in tune with the celebration herself. Here, she's wearing a Hawaiian muu-muu.

TAKE IT OUT OF THE ATTIC... ANTIQUE IT!

ANTIQUING MADE EASY

WITH MARTIN SENOUR PROVINCIAL COLOR GLAZE

Easy as "paint, glaze, wipe" to turn a marred, scarred attic relic into a handsome antique, a decorator accent piece! With Martin Senour's Provincial Color Glaze you don't even remove varnish or old stain. Forget about scars and scratches. Just paint, glaze, wipe. Authentic antique colors —six to choose from, Antique White, Old-World Olive, Spanish Gold, Medici Blue, Provincial Pink, Roman Red. Create a grainy or marbleized or tortoise shell finish. You're the decorator. Search out the attic, buy a bargain at a second-hand store or an unfinished piece... and Antique it!

Everything you need is right in the kit!

By LE PACINI

BELIEVE IT or not, this column is usually organized in some sort of Pacinian logic, which, in most cases (though there are some fans who would argue the point), is better than no organization at all.

But every once in a while we feel the irresistible need to sit at a typewriter and ramble on, as the thoughts arrive. This is known in some circles as the stream-of-consciousness technique, but we're not usually considered intelligent and/or neurotic enough to handle this sort of stuff, so we call it rambling—just to satisfy the literati.

So anywhere, here's our rambling:

Charley Finley, owner of the Kansas City team of the American League, is ignorant (how do you like that conscious stream?).

He thinks that the Yankees have won all these years because they have short fences down the foul lines.

Until Joe Cronin applied the screws to Charley a few weeks ago, Charley was under the impression that he could make the Athletics pennant contenders by moving his fences in to 290 feet or so, which is illegal according to new baseball law.

But really, Cronin didn't have to make Charley move those fences back again because Charley, who always seems to have these problems with ball parks, would have done it himself after a while.

This is why Charley is ignorant. Charley, we guess, has never heard of Babe Ruth or Joe DiMaggio or Mickey Mantle or Lou Gehrig or any of those other 290 foot pop fly hitters. Charley has also never bothered to reason that if his Athletics hit more homers because of the shortened fences, then so would the other teams, the majority of which, in the American League, are better than Charley's boys with or with-

Charley should take these things into consideration before he makes a fool of himself, next time. And there surely will be a next time, just as sure as the Athletics will be eighth again, now that powerful sluggers like Jose Tartabull and Gino Cimoli don't have those short porches to aim for.

REASON WHY the spitball hasn't been legalized is because it would serve no useful purpose other than to publicize it and draw the wrath of well-meaning old ladies who think baseball is a gentleman's game.

Thing is, as Eddie Bressoud, former Giant shortstop now playing for Boston, pointed out in the Sporting News a few weeks ago, there are a dozen pitchers in the American League today who throw spitters.

Just for conformity's sake, we'll assume there are a like number in the National League. Ironically, Bressoud claims that Lew Burdette, who has most often been accused of throwing the wet one, doesn't throw it. He just lets people think he does.

As Burdette once admitted, "The spitter's the best pitch I never had."

We've personally talked to several old pros who admit off the record that they grabbed a few extra years of play-for-pay because they were able to develop the spitter.

So why legalize something that's already in use and stir the hornets?

A spitter requires a minimum of saliva, which is wind-whipped dry by the time it reaches the plate. So it's almost impossible to spot by umpires, anyway.

And besides, it's not that good a pitch and not that many pitchers use it effectively often enough to make it unfair. It's hard to control and a good knuckler or similar pitch can be just as effective.

That high hard one and snappy, down-breaking curve are still the best pitches in the game and the ones batters fear most. It's usually desperate, washed up throwers who embrace the spitter, and they don't count for much, anyway.

REASON WHY the Giants have a chance to win the pennant this year is because it's going to be a hitter's year.

The Dodgers won last year because it was a pitcher's year.

When it becomes a "balance" year, it'll be time for St. Louis or Philadelphia, or maybe

Cincy.

REASON WHY our philosophy of baseball doesn't mesh with Alvin Dark's is because he has a one track mind.

Every time a reporter asks him why the Giants lost so many one run games last year, he tells them because they had poor relief pitching.

What Alvin doesn't seem to realize is that there are several other ways to lose one run games. Like Felipe Alou never having learned to bunt when he had to; like Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda strolling off bases like the base paths are the boardwalk at Atlantic City; like Jose Pagan and Chuck Hiller making fewer double-plays than the Mets, who had the worst infield in baseball last year.

Our philosophy of baseball offense, if anyone's interested, is to get runs when you can, any way you can, and to let the big inning evolve naturally.

If a batter's getting a piece of the ball, running, doing something besides striking out, making the defense throw the ball around as much as possible, things are more likely to happen.

Teams that go for the Big Inning (remember, the Yankees go for it, but they run and bunt, too) often break up a lot of Little Innings, and end up with nothing.

Remember, it usually takes only four or five runs to win a baseball game, and a few Little Innings can accomplish this just as easily—and more surely—than one Big Inning broken a run short when McCovey's looking the other way as Whitey Lockman is flagging him down.

We understand Ed Cereghino is teaching economics in Jefferson Adult School and no one could be more eminently qualified.

Anybody who can handle the $80,000 or so bonus the Yankees gave Eddie a decade ago has to know economics.

NOW, HOW DO YOU like that for organization? Aside from faulty sentence structure, this column's the most organized one we've ever written. It's all about baseball!

Ram Spikes Win Fifth

Indians Beat Sharks; T.N. Is Defeated

By CRAIG BECKHEYER

Like old man river, Westmoor's title bound tracksters just kept rolling along Friday afternoon and with the persistency of a bloodhound, Jefferson High remained right on their heels in the North Peninsula League track and field race.

Westmoor, getting a league best, 151-10 discus toss from Dan Hartman and the usual double win from Roy Pinelli, routed El Camino, 87-35, in Daly City, while Jeff eased by Oceana, 69½-52½. In other league action South San Francisco edged Terra Nova, 59-53.

Jefferson's varsity warmed up for their last crack at Westmoor (in the league finals) in a blustery, windy meet at Oceana.

The Indians, with one less championship point than the loaded Rams, must finish higher than the Daly City crew to earn a piece of the diadem.

Friday's action wrapped up the dual meet season with Westmoor unbeaten in varsity competition, Jefferson sporting a perfect Class B slate and Westmoor again kingpins in the C race.

A pair of individuals who will not be on championship teams but will make their presence felt in the finals turned in fine efforts for South San Francisco.

Louis Cortese was a triple winner in the SSF-Terra Nova B meet (75, 150 and broad jump) while Dave Roland turned in a 15.4 150 in the C contest to set a new school record and record one of the fastest times on the Peninsula.

MARC MALLINGER, student body vice president at Westmoor High School and an All-League and All-County football end last season, has received a $15,000 scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh. The scholarship covers tuition, fees, books, meals and expenses for nine semesters. The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Mallinger of 276 Belhaven Drive, Mallinger plans to major in political science, study law, and practice with his brother in San Francisco. He was also on the track team and as a sophomore in Houston finished in the fifth district finals.

S.S.F. Wins NPL Swim Title Again

South San Francisco High School is still the one and only North Peninsula League varsity swimming champion.

The Warriors also won the class B division, but lost a sweep when Oceana took the class C division.

Top marks in the varsity included Tim Tambini's 2:02.7 in the 200 free, Dennis Belli's record 54.7 in the 100 freestyle trials, Chris Torp's 24.4 in the 50 free and Bill Thompson's 1:11.4 in the 100 breaststroke.

Both South San Francisco relay teams—the medley and freestyle—set new records.

In the medley, Belli, Thompson, Bill Muench and Chris Tork swam at 1:54.8, five seconds better than the NPL mark.

In the free, Torp, Muench, Tambini and Belli went 1:41.7, shaving three seconds off the record.

Class B records included the South San Francisco medley relay team's 2:00.5, set by Bruce Crocker, Steve Porter, Caig Tourlotte and Jack Martin; a free relay mark of 1:47.7 by Ed Ekers, Tourlotte, Martin and Don Berthiaume; Crocker's 1:10.5 in the backstroke and a 1:13.8 by Porter in the 100 breaststroke.

The Oceana medley relay team set a Class C record of 2:12.6, and John Miramontes of South S. F. set a new mark in the 50-freestyle, a 26.8. Oceana's Varner set a record of 1:15.0 in the 100 individual medley.

Elks State Golf Meet May 21-22

The format for the Elks State Convention Golf Tournament, to be hosted by the San Mateo Elks, was announced by Pat Moore, state golf chairman for the California Elks Association.

The 36-hole tournament will be played May 21-22 at Crystal Springs and Green Hills Golf and Country Club, 18 holes on each course.

The competition includes a state championship four-man team play at scratch, low gross championship, and flights for handicap and non-handicap Elks.

Elks' wives will play 36 holes at the Redwood City Elks' Golf Course, 18 holes on Thursday, May 21 and 18 on Friday, May 22.

Entry deadline for both tournaments is next Wednesday at the San Mateo Elks Lodge.

More than 400 Elks and their wives are expected to participate in the two tournaments.

Sixth Annual Pacifica Open Golf Tournament Is May 21

Pacifica's sixth annual open golf tournament will be held at Sharp Park Golf Course Thursday, May 21.

Deadline for entries is Monday, May 11. Entry blanks are available at the pro shop at Sharp Park or at any Pacifica tavern.

The tournament is sponsored by the Pacifica Tavern Owners' Association. Defending champion is Lido Landil operator of a Pacifica supermarket.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded winners at a buffet to be held at Nick's Rockaway Restaurant on the evening of May 21.

Last year, more than 200 golfers entered the tournament.

Members of the Pacifica City Council have been invited to participate in tee-off ceremonies inaugurating tournament play.

VINCE FERRIGNO set a new high series record in the Blue Monday Scratch League as he rolled games of 192-255-202 for a 649 series. Dom Passaglia rolled a 242 game and big 619 series to take second high for the week.

With the league drawing to a close, Vince's total will be hard to beat. Vince has received another honor for donating a case of Fischer's Egg Noodles to the weekly leader in each of the day time leagues.

Another high roller performed in the 920 All-Stars as Police Chief Lo Petrocchi led the field with a terrific 265 game and 632 series, followed by Frank Cvitanich with 235—630 and Rich Brewer with 233—607.

Still another high game and series was registered by Dave Gonzales in the Sleeper sHandicap with 262 and 621.

In the B'nai B'rith League, Ed Reinitz led the scoring for for the week with 181 and 538.

BERNIC EUSTERMAN had plenty of spectators Tuesday morning in the St. Emydius Mothers' Guild League as she rolled seven consecutive strikes before missing. She finished with a big 218 game. Terry Warde took high series with 468.

Elly Torringo bowled 100 pins over her average with a 564 series in the Morning Glories but Emily Drago took high series for the day with 566. Emily also took high game honors with 199.

Secretary Doris Arnett led the YWCA League Tuesday morning with a 473 series. Barbara Castionove rolled a 184 game to take high honors in that department.

Less than three weeks remain in the Gold Coast Classic and already over $900 has been awarded in cash prizes. The cash has been distributed among 41 lucky bowlers. In addition, 36 have qualified for the Westlake finals while 12 already are assured of spots in the Grand Finals. Leading money winner to date is Charles Diaz with a total of $102.60. Bowlers have until May 24 to qualify in one of the two divisions, 165 and over, or under 165 average.

Last call for the Westlake Hawaii trip that leaves May 22. The cost of $199 includes a champagne flight hotel accommodations and tours for the nine-day trip. Further information may be obtained at the concourse desk.

ONCE AGAIN, league champions practice sessions for the Westlake Rolloff for the Champion of Champions Tournament are at hand. As in the past, the championship team of each league is eligible to compete in the competition for the right to represent Westlake in the Champion of Champions Tournament with teams representing other bowling centers in the San Francisco Bowling Proprietors' Association.

Idele Newell, Toni Klong, Marge Beaumont and Vi Saraceno moved into first place in the Westlake competition for a free entry to the Northern California Housewives Tournament, which runs from May 11 to 22. Idele led the scoring with a big 230 game and 560 series.

Margot Coburn with 178—493 and Larry Aguia with 205—530 topped the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives for the week.

Now is the time for all good bowlers to come to their league meeting for the spring-summer season. The schedule of meetings for the various leagues is posted in the lobby and is available at the desk.

This year there is a special bonus for team captains in summer leagues in the form of $500 in cash prizes for the Captains-Secretaries Tournament here Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament is open only to captains of summer league teams at Westlake. An additional bonus is available to the winner of the tournament as he will represent Westlake in the rolloffs for an additional $1,200 in cash prizes.

Sea Bowl

A BOWLER'S PRAYER: Deliver me from low score games, 7-10 splits and open frames, guide my ball into that pocket and drop that pin if I just rock it. And let me make my claim to fame and just bowl ONE 300 GAME! I'll go along with that, how about you?

On the Yawner League, Beth Randall had a moment of glory when she rolled a beautiful 223-525. A hard girl to beat in bowling is Sharon McGuinness! While bowling on the Stardusters Tuesday night league, Sharon posted as follows: 214-204-193 for the grand total of 611. Carol Allen, a teammate of Sharon's was in good form when she came up with a 193-194-195 for a 582 series.

There were some nice games and series bowled on the Aquanots with Arletta Ackerman having the high game of 208 and Connie Silvas, 188-512. Vi Looney had 187-509. SURFSIDE 6: Dick Mills had a red letter day when he took both top honors with a 224-541. Dick Schnieder had 200-519.

The biggest game of the week honor went to Gil Thielen with a 254 on the 530 Scratch Trio League. Gabby Mattson wasn't far behind Gil on the same league with his 246-217-213-186 for a 862 series. Gabby had the high series of the evening. Junior-Senior bowler Eddie Sohl rolled a beautiful 214-543 for the high game. Rich Cameron had the high series of 209-592.

BARBARA THIELEN had the high series for the girls with a 153-450. Real nice bowling! John Sarles, whom I've known since he was knee high to a grasshopper is becoming quite a bowler. John topped the Starshooter league in both high game and series with a 200-543. John's sister-in-law, Gerry Sarles, bowling on the same team, shot a nice 154-440.

SEA BEATTLES: Gina Lomoljo had the high game and series of the league with a 185-495. Lee Daniel had 170-453. Cindy Radabaugh rolled 170-406. Penny Smith, rolling for the Alleyholics, really did some great bowling. Penny had the high game of 222 and series of 560. Joanne Wynne had 200-539. Phyllis Crisp rolled 181-524.

Bev Evans of Neptune's Daughters League had the league's high game of 224. Lois Talbott started out with a turkey and ended up with the high series of 195-522.

Bulldog Nine Finishes 4th

College of San Mateo's baseball team climaxed a late-season surge Saturday as the Bulldogs split a twin bill with Chabot College.

It marked the end of 1964 Golden Gate Conference play for CSM, and left the Bulldogs with a 10-11 win-loss record, tying with CCSF for fourth place.

Chabot and Foothill College are knotted for the second spot by virtue of Foothill's doubleheader split with CCSF, and San Jose City College grabbed the honors for first place.

CSM nearly made it eight straight Saturday, but lost the first game, 6-5, in the sixth inning on a throwing error that allowed Chabot to score the tying and winning runs.

In the nightcap, the Gladiators fared less successfully under the domination of Gene Hessler's three-hit, nine-strikeout pitching to give San Mateo the 2-0 win.

The Bulldogs bowed in the first match after totalling their five runs in the first five innings. Neil McNevin came up and blasted his fourth league home run over the wall in right-center for two runs.

In the third, McNevin scored on Dan Frisella's double to right field.

It was McNevin once again in the fifth, unleashing a double. Then Big John Morris homered over the wall in left field, his first of the year.

Olivera Star In Win; Colts Lose to Rams

By CRAIG BECKHEYER

If the major leagues are really serious about their recent attempts to shorten the length of a game of baseball, then the big time scouts should be arriving at the home of South San Francisco Warrior pitcher Chuck Olivera in droves this week.

Olivera pitched seven innings Friday afternoon at South City's Orange Park and used an incredible 48 pitches en route to defeating Terra Nova, 9-1.

Averaging a fraction over two pitches per out, Olivera saw his mates shoot to a 5-0 lead after two innings and then coast home on the strength of his arm in a victory that gave the Warriors undisputed control of the top spot in the NPL.

Around the rest of the league, upsets were coming thick and heavy as El Camino continued on a tail spin that started last Wednesday when they lost their second in a row, this time to Westmoor, 7-5, while Oceana, suddenly playing like the terrors they were in the practice season, bombed Jefferson, 8-2.

In addition to Olivera's alarming stinginess from the mound, the Warriors went wild on the base-paths.

Bob Brian's charges stole a total of 12 bases during the afternoon and three times were successful on thefts of home.

Oceana exploded for six runs in the first inning to knock Jefferson out of a first-place tie when Ken Oden unloaded a 320-foot home-run to drive in three runs in an inning that saw five Shark safeties.

Dave Westphall with two singles and two doubles had a perfect four-for-four for the surging Oceana nine.

Westmoor scored a brace of runs in three separate innings in edging El Camino, 7-5. The Colts, who opened the season with three straight wins, trailed from start to finish after the Rams scored five times in the first three frames.

Ed Perry, with a triple and a single, drove in three runs for the Rams.

Today the league has a chance to really get into a snarl when Jefferson plays South City. A Warrior win would put Brian's nine in excellent shape for the last four games, while an Indian victory would pull the leaders back down to the pack and result in another traffic jam stop the loop.

SECOND BASEMAN Ken Oden of Oceana heads for home after slugging a three-run, 320-foot homer in the first frame of the Sharks' game with Jefferson Friday. Teammates follow Oden to the plate to congratulate him. Oceana scored six runs in the opening inning and went on to down the Indians, 8-2.

Giants to Conduct Annual Child Invitation Program

For the fifth successive season the San Francisco Giants will conduct through the school vacation period their invitation Program for Children — free admission for sponsored youth groups—at Candlestick Park, it was announced last week by Walter Mails.

In each of their seasons at Candlestick Park the Giants have entertained upwards of 100,000 youngsters annually through this program.

It is open to youngsters in the 9 to 14-year-old bracket, when organized in groups, and properly sponsored and chaperoned.

The program is conducted on an invitational basis, extended only in response to written application, and granted to specifically assigned dates (weekday afternoon games, excepting Saturdays and holidays) through the school vacation period.

Some people think it never needs service.

It's easy to get that impression.

How many other makes have been driven 60,000 miles with the original pistons and cylinders intact? How many ordinarily get 40,000 miles on the same tires?

That doesn't mean the Volkswagen never needs service. It does.

To get the most out of it, have your VW serviced regularly. We call it preventive maintenance. We'll give you a book on preventive maintenance for the first 30,000 miles you drive. And every 30,000 miles after that.

In the book for new VWs, for instance, coupons start you off with two free maintenance services. One at 300 miles. One at 3,000 miles. After that, the coupons remind you to bring your VW in for specified services at regular intervals. It's the best way to keep your VW in top shape.

Service is so important that Volkswagen won't sell cars where they can't be properly handled. By factory-trained mechanics. Like ours.

Parts are economical and quickly installed.

There isn't a Volkswagen made that you can't get parts for easily. Most are interchangeable from year to year. (You can have a 1963 fender put on your '58 model with 10 bolts. It fits perfectly.)

We pride ourselves on this fact: Our service is as good as the car. Ask anybody.

COMMENT

A Melodrama Overplayed

(Hamlet, Act III, Scene 2)

FOR MANY YEARS, every time an enlightened San Francisco civic administration has shown any sign of following the sensible course of opening up the Crystal Springs Lakes area for recreational purposes, the officials of that city's public utilities commission and water departments have followed a consistent policy of putting on their fright wigs and screaming about potential water pollution. This has been an effective, if transparent, technique.

This year of 1964 is no exception. When new Mayor John F. Shelley showed signs of listening to reason on the recreation proposal, the water moguls went into their usual act and, more than usually scared, they sort of overplayed their worn melodrama.

And by ironic chance — this time some truth has leaked out.

The people of San Francisco found out that they are one of the eight major cities of the United States with a water supply lacking filtration plants. They found out that they were far behind their neighbor city of Oakland in this respect.

And they learned this the hard way when the taste and odor of their water became unpalatable by reason of intensive chlorination. The same concentration of purifying chlorine, added because their water supply was turbid and impure, killed off most of their pet goldfish.

And, concidentally, they learned that there are now strains of chlorine resistant bacteria, and they are drinking some of them.

What they now know is that their water supply should have had adequate filtraton plants years ago, just as most American cities have them.

THE PENINSULA PEOPLE, who have long urged the installation of filtration plants both to improve the water supply and to allow opening up of a splendid recreational asset, now know all of the long hidden facts as well.

In the light of all this the dramatic declamation of San Francisco Public Utilities Commission Chairman Thomas P. White, "I think this proves opening our watershed to recreational use without proper protection would not be advisable," rings as hollow as the histrionics of a tent show Hamlet.

The old reliable water pollution drama has gone corny, because the water is polluted and nothing will remedy it except the filtration plants that should have been built years ago.

The over-acting this time has gone sour, but it may have one beneficial effect. It may prove a blessing in disguise if it forces the action needed to properly protect the water consumers and allow the opening of the reservoir areas to the people for the recreational use they might have been enjoying for years.

The only tragedy in the whole performance is for the defunct goldfish. It is time to get this old show off the road and stop playacting with natural resources.

Miss Daly City of 1962

NANCY ANGELOT won the vote of judges over 13 other candidates when she became Miss Daly City in 1962. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Angelot of 269 South Parkview Avenue, Nancy won the title on her second try. In November of 1962, she gave up her crown when she became Mrs. Robert Padreddi. The couple live at 97 Los Banos Street, Daly City, and are the parents of a baby boy, Michael Anthony. Entry deadline for the 1964 Miss Daly City contest has been extended until Friday. Application blanks may be obtained at the Daly City Chamber of Commerce office at 6454 Mission Street, or at the office of The Post, 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City.

Finally, Help For Unification

Ron Bates

AFTER A YEAR of being a small voice drowned out by the din of local school board members and the sometimes vociferous public, it appears the County Committee on School Reorganization is finally getting some help to sell unification.

Given the unenviable task of boiling some 29 school districts in the county down to around six, the county has met with opposition just about everywhere. Each of those 29 districts has about five persons on its board of trustees, or a total of 145.

When you consider that this total will be whittled down by at least a hundred, you can see why some of the school board members are so vociferous.

There were only 11 members on the county committee until November when representatives of the districts cut the number to nine and dumped two of the most vocal members of the committee—Helen Kerwin and William Platt.

THE COUNTY COMMITTEE'S first glimmer of help, at least in the North County, came at a public hearing last month at Westmoor High on the committee's plan to unify the elementary boards of Bayshore, Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna Salada with the Jefferson High School District.

Then councilman and councilwoman-elect, now mayor and vice mayor of Pacifica, Fred Ballew and Grace McCarthy, hit out at Laguna Salada's contention that the district could unify on its own. They said this plan just isn't feasible and would only add to the heavy tax load Pacificans have to carry now.

They indicated they would support the committee's plan.

The second glimmer came from the Jefferson District Federation of Teachers, AFT 1481. The teachers unanimously approved a resolution supporting unification of high schools and elementary schools within the district.

The resolution said that unification would free many certified personnel for classroom duty, thus reducing size of classes in the district. It also pointed out that unification would contribute to curriculum continuity from the first through the twelfth grade and would result in more equitable distribution of financial resources among the schools.

Jim Ballard, president of the local, said when the resolution was passed: "We can't let regionalism and the hoax of 'local control' stand in the way of development of more efficient and effective education for our children."

NOT NECESSARILY the county committee's plans but unification in general was given another boost more recently by James Tormey, the county superintendent of schools.

He defends mandatory school unification because he feels that no large amount of additional state funds for local schools can be expected from the legislature "without drastic reorganization by small districts."

He said he is in favor of the amended Unruh Bill — that would unify all districts by high school boundary lines. This is where he and the county committee differ. The county committee proprosal splits in the southern county districts.

Jefferson High District is the only one in the county that would not be affected. The Unruh plan and the county committee's plan for the north county are the same as far as mechanics are concerned.

Unruh's bill throughout the state would cut about 1,500 districts down to around 300.

THE BASIC THEORY behind unification is that with all these districts, there is quite a bit of duplication of effort. A lot of money is being wasted in the county by 29 people doing the same job.

It is also felt that a lot of money could be saved by purchasing in bigger lots. A district is bound to get a better unit price on materials when the volume purchased is greater, proponents say.

Another advantage, they stress, is the continuity of education. As it stands now, the Jefferson High District receives students from four different elementary school districts, each with a different philosophy of instruction.

Students from one district may not necessarily be as well instructed in one subject as students from another district and it causes the high school to make adjustments in its curriculum for it.

THE CONFLICT in the north county unification plan doesn't seem to be too much with unification as it is with the makeup of the proposed unified district.

As one trustee put it: "If this is going to be a shotgun wedding, at least we should be able to pick our mate."

Nobody seems to want poor penny-wise Laguna Salada and Laguna Salada, in turn, doesn't want anybody else.

But as more and more people like Ballew, Mrs. McCarthy, Tormey and the teachers themselves hop onto the unification bandwagon, Brisbane, Bayshore, Jefferson and Laguna Salada and Jeff High may all just find themselves living under one roof—whether they want it or not.

Hilarious 'Little Me'

Barbara Bladen

THERE USUALLY aren't enough tickets to hit shows for regular theatergoers: the veterans who have supported the subscription series, through seasons of good, bad and indifferent shows. Now that "Little Me" is at the Curran Theatre, the problem has increased.

The ubiquitous Sid Caesar, a comedian in the great tradition of pantomime and one of the all-time favorite stars of television, is attracting audiences that rarely, if ever, go to legitimate shows.

They're coming from all walks of life, fighting traffic, mid-week late hours and tight budgets to watch the funny man portray the seven men in the life of Belle Poitrine, a rich, retired ex-actress and woman of the world.

Producer Edwin Lester, whose Civic Light Opera season opened with the tremendously funny musical this week, brought it intact from Broadway. The original cast includes Virginia Martin (Belle the bud), Nancy Andrews (Belle in late bloom) and Swen Swenson (one of the most electrifying dancers we've ever seen).

From the moment the curtain goes up, the lavish, extremely witty adaptation of the Patrick (Auntie Mame) Dennis novel sets the laughter barometer in action with a rise tantamount to a thunderclap.

THE OPENING scene is a curtain depicting the floor plan of the flamboyant Poitrine mansion and surrounding grounds.

Flashback sequences vacillate between the two Belles. The older tells of her trials in acquiring wealth, culture and social position; necessary qualifications for her marriage to Noble Eggleston, the rich boy up on the hill. They start their courtship by her throwing a pail of garbage on him. Her humble beginnings are in shantytown where her mother goes off every day to be a nurse; complete in red satin dress; stage make-up and beat-up furs.

One of the show business novelties of the season is Bob Fosse's staging and choreography of the Rich Kid's Rag. Their 20's costumes and knock-kneed dancing is a near show stopper. Two of those in one night would be too much to take and it's Swen Swenson who brings the audience to its feet in wild applause for a sensual solo ballet to "I've Got Your Number."

Prissy Noble promises to wait for the buxom youngster from the wrong side of the tracks. He attends Harvard and Yale Universities to be a "legal doctor." His final disguise is as his own son who attends Juilliard and Georgia Tech so he can be a "musical engineer."

I'm partial to his hilarious rendition of a delicatessen delivery boy who is actually a famous European movie director. He stars Belle in "Ben Hur," "Sweetheart of Gunga Din," "Hello Quo Vadis, Hello" and as Joan of Arc in "Flaming Youth."

IT'S A VIRTUOSO performance all the way. Caesar tends to run his lines together so that much of it is not heard. But he's at best, after all, during his pantomime, of which there is plenty, and when he's grimacing. Nearly all of his characters die violently and that's when he is funniest.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

We wish to thank you for the fine co-operation received from you in publicity for our Book Fair.

The many articles and pictures that appeared in your newspaper contributed greatly to the success of our project, aiding us in securing donations of books to sell and bringing people to the Book Fair to buy.

We would also like to thank our Friends in Daly City, Broadmoor, Colma and elsewhere for helping us make our first Book Fair a great success.

Their generoisty in donating such a fine and varied stock of books to sell, and in patronizing the stalls at the Book Fair, is much appreciated.

The financial result of the Book Fair will enable Friends of the Library to make a worthwhile gift to the Daly City Library and an announcement of this gift will be made at our annual meeting May 2, to which the public is invited.

Another aspect of the Fair was the opportunity it gave us to show you one of the ways we work to assist the library and to point up the merits of our Friends group.

The Hill of Enchantment

Don Miller

THAT OLD BROMIDE, "you've got to see it to believe it," is never more appropriate than after a tour of one of California's most memorable attractions—the Hearst Castle in San Simeon.

Its Spanish towers reaching toward the sky nearly a third of a mile above the Pacific, the castle is truly almost an unbelievable reality in the midst of modern day California's missile-launching pads, space-age industries and tomorrow-minded populace.

San Simeon is to California what Westminster Abbey is to London, what the Pyramids are to Egypt, what the Forium is to Rome—a page out of the past.

We finally got to thumb over this page the other day and like others in our bus load of 50, we came away mumbling to ourselves in wonderment and, to some degree, in awe.

William Randolph Hearst is reported to have calmly spent a million dollars a year for 50 years, collecting art treasures from throughout the world. At San Simeon, you see much of the result of this half century of buying and although you may not agree with his taste here and there, you cannot but admire the determination that went into his collection.

A catalog of the furnishings of Hearst's hilltop retreat could be considered an inventory of the contents of Spanish convents and cathedrals, the monasteries of Italy, the chapeaux of France, the temples of Rome and the great medieval castles of England.

TO REACH San Simeon, you have two alternatives: driving the Coast Highway south from Carmel or shooting down Highway 101 to Atascadero, west to the coast and then north.

In our admittedly biased opinion, there is only ONE way to drive to San Simeon—down the Coast Highway. If you think the road to Stinson Beach is the ultimate in California coastal driving, then you haven't even begun to experience what driving high above the sea can be like.

The Coast Highway south of Carmel should be given a blue ribbon as America's top-ranked rocky coastline road. The views are spectacular. At heights up to 2,000 feet above the Pacific, the colors of the sea range all the way from the deepest of blues to the lightest of greens.

With the sun floodlighting this seascape in afternoon hours, the attack on the visual senses becomes downright overwhelming. The drive, once you've taken it, is one you'll never forget.

On our trip to San Simeon, we made the mistake of turning off the road too many times to take pictures and look at Neptune's domain below. As a result, we arrived at our destination only a half hour before our tour bus was to leave for the castle.

Since lunch had not yet been ingested, we dashed into the town of San Simeon for the usual Americana — hamburgers and milk shakes to go—then drove hurriedly back to the tour departure point.

You cannot drive directly to the Hearst manse but must board state-operated buses (the castle has been a state monument for six years) at a parking area and assembly point, five miles from the castle.

Since food is not permitted on the buses and since our tour was due to leave in five minutes, what ensued was lunch on the order of a basic training recruit who was the last in line at the mess hall.

ONCE EN ROUTE to the castle, you soon appreciate why the public is not permitted to drive directly to the castle. The road to the monument is strictly one-way much of the going and has more twists and winds than a super-sized pretzel.

Another reason, understandably, is game that is still permitted to wander unfettered over the pine-dotted hillsides that surround the castle. Somehow, it just wouldn't do to have John Q. Public firing his trusty sedan at zebra, fallow deer, aoudads, tahr goats and hereford cattle that range over the area.

At the end of the five-mile driveway (which must be some sort of record for an entrance) you are met by a uniformed gentleman who welcomes you to La Cuesta Encantada—the Enchanted Hill — and outlines a few rules of the trip through the grounds.

He also introduces a uniformed miss who he says will also answer questions and be of any assistance you need.

However, you notice the young lady is always at the rear of the group as it proceeds through the castle and you soon realize that her job is not primarily to be a guide but to be a shepherd for those who would wander off into this enchantment and take their own tour.

This of course, is strictly verboten for it would jam the smooth-running tour machinery at San Simeon that during summer weeks handles a maximum of 2,400 tourists each day on 12-minute headways. That is, there is a tour through the monument every 12 minutes and we're told that with a discriminating ear, you can just about hear three different guides extolling the wonderment of San Simeon at the same time.

THE WALK through La Casa Grande—the main house—through one of the castle's three guest houses, around the Grecian-Romanesque outdoor pool, past the Roman-styled indoor pool and around a small portion of the 123 landscaped acres that surround La Cuesta Encantada takes 80 minutes.

Outdoors, you breathe the salt-tinged ocean breezes, blended with the aroma of orange blossoms or whatever flowers are blooming at the time of your visit. Hearst had his castle landscaped in such a way that no time of the year was without the fragrance of bloom.

Indoors, you breathe the air of centuries past as you watch the guide point to a lion-faced deity chiseled in granite by Egyptians before Christ or at a Pompeiian tile mosaic floor dating to 60 B. C., or perhaps at a five-foot tall silver candleholder, made by craftsmen in the fifteenth century.

When the 80 minutes is up all too quickly and you have been herded back into the tour bus, you realize you have just seen something that was not only a phenomenon in its time but has become even more so in the supersonic age in which we live today.

La Cuesta Encantada is verily a California anachronism. Let's hope its enchantment never fades.

Peninsula Panorama

Rise and Fall Of the Apron

George Whitesell

BY AND LARGE, this Peninsula appears to have been pretty well freed of apron-strings.

This does not reflect any changes in human nature, but is more the result of literal circumstance.

You just don't see many aprons around any more and those that you do see have short strings.

Aprons, we fear, have become negative status symbols. Originally the badge of honest work at the kitchen range, the kitchen sink, and the washboard, they are no longer appreciated.

Despite their long and honorable history aprons seem to have fallen into disrepute with many Peninsula housewives.

Most of them still have them and still use them, but they don't want to be seen in them.

About the only exception to this rule is the so-called "cocktail-apron" which is a frilly little confection of gossamer and chiffon, not in frequently ornamented with sequins.

Since it is entirely useless—it protects nothing and does not obstruct the view—the cocktail apron remains acceptable in social circles.

A NEW FORM of apron, called the "Japanese apron" is making a bid for popularity, but this is based on snob appeal and it is not a real apron. It is sort of a hybrid smock with an Oriental bias.

The women buy them, but they simply don't wear 'em.

For some atavistic reason they just fold them neatly and store them away. Few households are without a bureau drawer or other cache of aprons that have not seen the light of day for years.

In the hey-day of aprons around these parts, these plebian garments were large and voluminous — designed to cover as large an area as possible.

They were worn almost continuously during daylight hours and no respectable woman would be caught doing housework without an apron on.

Most women had a selection of aprons. Some were strictly for utility and others were considered presentable for wearing while entertaining neighbors or relatives.

A hostess might divest herself of her apron when expecting "company" but it was ten to one that she would put on her fanciest apron before they left.

This was suitable for light grocery shopping, church picnics, or fetching a cup of sugar from next door.

Most of the big aprons, however fancy, were demoted by time and wear to an unglamorous end over the washtub. But there were also specialty aprons, sewing aprons with attached pin-cushions and tape pockets, aprons with heavy pads at the hems to protect the knees when scrubbing floors or tacking carpets, and aprons of toweling designed to cover the shoulders when drying newly washed hair in the sunshine. For the hardest kind of wear, aprons were constructed of heavy mattress ticking.

Modern women rarely know that the apron had a use in addition to protecting other clothes. The skirt of the apron could be gathered up as a handy basket when podding peas or husking corn, and it made a fine carry-all when you bought a peck of peaches from a peddler.

THE DECLINE of the apron must be associated with the use of modern household appliances, but is mostly due to changing fashions.

Many women now wear slacks, those tight trousers, or shorts when working around the house. Wearing an apron over these various kinds of britches presents a sight that is, somehow, shocking to the eye—the same general effect presented by the rear elevation of a cowboy wearing fancy "chaps" with he seat of his ragged jeans in uncouth view.

We have also been told that one of the reasons why the "hired girl" disappeared is because she refused to wear aprons.

The old order changeth. The apron is vanishing. But what this department wants to know is what happens to all the spots and spills that used to be intercepted by aprons?

Divine Services

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

JUDY JOHNSON and Timothy Tweedie, right, members of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church and students at San Francisco State College, speak with Rev. John Jordan, who represents seven denominations that work with foreign students at the University of California. Reverend Jordan spoke at the church recently in anticipation of the congregation being host to foreign students from San Francisco State. A coffee hour followed the service and then members of the congregation took students home for dinner. Jack Gobel of Pacifica was chairman of the event.

Circus Theme Annual Fete

A "circus" theme has been chosen for the annual Mother-Daughter. Banquet Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Westlake Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Elmer Laursen, district vice president of the Golden Gate Conference of American Lutheran Church Women will be the guest speaker. Entertainment will be provided by the daughters.

Tickets for the banquet are on sale and may be purchased from Mrs. Dorothy LaChance or Mrs. Alpha Jaranson.

Mrs. Bette Weschler and Mrs. Irene Thorson are in charge of the food. Mrs. Marion Kraling is program chairman and decorations will be created by Mrs. Jane Rezzonico, Mrs. Alyce Putz, Gary Weschler, Mrs. LaChance and Betty Loftesness.

First Benefit Dance Planned

Congregation B'nai Israel will hold its first building fund benefit dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Johnny Vaugn and his orchestra will provide music. Jack Carney will be master of ceremonies. Reservations may be made at the door or by calling PL 5-7634 or PL 6-9904.

Lutheran Meet Delegates Named

The Rev. Kenneth D. Hansen, pastor, and Thomas Gilbertson, president of the congregation of Westlake Lutheran Church, are delegates to the South Pacific District Convention of the American Lutheran Church, which will be held Tuesday through May 15 in Sacramento.

Witnesses Plan S.F. Convention

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society will sponsor a three-day circuit convention for Jehovah's Witnesses in San Francisco May 29-31.

William Marks, presiding minister of the Daly City congregation, said that delegates from 18 congregations from San Francisco and the Peninsula will attend.

The convention will be held in the Scottish Rite Auditorium. More than 2,000 delegates are expected to attend.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the showing of a movie entitled, "Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around the World." It is a two-hour educational film produced by the Watchtower Society in color.

The convention program will include morning, afternoon and evening sessions devoted to Bible talks, discussions and demonstrations on conducting home Bible studies.

On the afternoon of May 30, the program will feature a discourse on baptism. New ministers wil lsymbolize their dedication by water immersion.

Arthur L. Borchardt, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in northern California, will be the key speaker.

He is from the Witnesses' world headquarters in Brooklyn and will talk on "Facing Up To The Urgency Of Our Times," at 3 p.m., May 31. The meetings are open free to the public.

Polynesian Dinner Set

The annual mother-daughter dinner of the Westlake Community Baptist Church will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the church's Fellowship Hall. A Polynesian "love feast" will be served.

Mrs. Frank Tiernan is in charge of the program. Eleanor Spitzer is the chairman for decorations and Barbara Taylor is in charge of tickets.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the church office at PL 6-5400.

VANDALISM REPORTED

Robert Klotz of 84 Garden Grove, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that someone had fired BB's through a window of his home.

Foreign Students Hosted By Broadmoor Congregation

Arrangements were made by the Mission committee of the local congregation.

The students were picked up in San Francisco on a Sunday morning and brought to the worship service. They were introduced at a coffee time following the service and then taken to homes of the prevoiusly assigned church members.

"This allows the foreign student to experience the interests and activities of the American church and home," Pastor Herbert C. Tweedie pointed out.

The students and host families were Badar Al-Najar of Kuwait with the Richard Grays, Joanna Pai of Korea with the Robert Elliotts, Dr. Sieko Tominaga of Japan with the William Masons, A Ramachandran of India with the Remo Cunibertis, Grisela Ramos of Venezuela with the Jack Spratts, Salomon Slavchansky of Mexico with the W. C. Klevesahls and Mitsue Sekiguchi of Japan with the Ray Lichtenbergs.

The Sunday before, Seiju Luke Ishikawa of Japan and Reverend Jonah Chang of Taiwan spoke briefly at the two morning services and were hosted at the home of Pastor Tweedie.

RADIO STOLEN

Ray Hunt of 40 Willits Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that a transistor radio had been stolen from his auto.

Dedication Service Is Scheduled

Special plans are being made for the observance of Mother's Day and Christian Home Week at Westlake Community Baptist Church in Daly City.

Dr. H. H. Stmebridge Jr., pastor, is preparing a series of eight short devotional messages to be mailed to each family.

The Lord's Prayer will be the theme for the week with selected scriptures for each day. Families of the church will be asked to set a daily time for meditation and prayer together.

"One of the features of each Mother's Day," said Dr. Stembridge, "is the dedication service held for babies. Parents are given this opportunity of presenting their child or children to the Lord and taking their vows as Christian parents.

"It is a most moving service and warms the hearts of all who may be present."

Rev. Donnelly Plans Sermon

"Actions Speak Louder than Words" will be the topic of a sermon given by the Rev. A. David Donnelly during a Mother's Day service at Westside Baptist Church at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Mother's Day also will be remembered at an evening gospel hour service at 7. Reverend Donnelly will speak on "Mary, the Mother of Jesus."

Tomorrow evening at 7:30, the newly organized Deacon Board will meet at the home of Alton Favor at 161 Dundee Drive in South San Francisco. New members of the board, Doyle Young and Roy King, will be welcomed.

Participation in Service Mapped

Members of the sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel will be honored and will participate in a service Friday evening at the temple. Members will then host the oneg shabbat after the service.

The newly-formed teen group of B'nai Israel will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the temple at 67 Los Banos Avenue.

Farewell Gift

ASSISTANT CITY ENGINEER of Daly City Edward Dominion was feted last week by a number of city employees and department heads at a luncheon at the Cypress Hills Bunker Room. The number two man in the Daly City Public Works department became the number one man in the San Carlos Public Works department on May 1. Dominion, who lives at 91 Zita Manor, Daly City, with his wife and five children, is an active charter member of the Daly City Toastmasters Club and was elected district lieutenant governor of administration Saturday at a Toastmaster Convention in Palo Alto. The district extends from King City to San Francisco. Gene Myers, a member of Public Works Department, presents Dominion with a gift from the rest of the city employees. (Post-Times Photo)

College Honors D.C. Student

Rodney Village of 170 Willits Street, Daly City, was honored last week at the annual Honors Convocation at San Francisco State College.

The engineering major ranked first in his department. The annual observance honors the outstanding students of the semester. President Paul Dodd, with the deans and heads of the college's various departments presented awards to the students.

Two Teachers Near Finish Of UC Study

Two Westmoor High School teachers are completing an eight-month study program in one of the newest disciplines of the atomic age, radiation biology.

They are Carl Kaufeldt, who lives at 1155 Oakwood Drive, Millbrae, and Erling J. Logan, of 1701 Carmelita Street, Burlingame.

They are among 20 Bay Area teachers who have met one evening a week since September on the University of California campus at Berkeley. Under the direction of Dr. Lola S. Kelly of UC's Donner Laboratory they have been studying nuclear physics, the effects of radiation on living beings and the uses of radioactive tracer materials in research on the life processes of animals and plants.

The study program, which ends May 22, is being conducted by UC's Engineering and Sciences Extension with support from the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. It is designed to acquaint high school teachers with new developments in nuclear technology and to help them incorporate this knowledge into their teaching.

The evening study program is an outgrowth of the successful training institutes for teachers held at Berkeley under NSF auspices during the past several summers. The institutes, which are offered in varied fields of the physical and biological sciences, have the overall purpose of increasing the effectiveness of science instruction in the schools.

Hillside Home Group to Meet

A special meeting of the Hillside Homeowners Improvement Club will be held tomorrow in the music room of the Colma K-6 School at 7:45 p.m., according to Anthony Aeillo, president.

The club will discuss proposed annexation moves of property to the southeast of Daly City and problems of horse stables at the end of Hoffmann Street.

39 YEARS A TEACHER

End of a Long Career

By PHYLLIS CLEMENTS

FOR THE first time in 39 years, Hester Blaylock will not be teaching a class of Jefferson elementary school district children when school opens this fall.

Miss Blaylock is retiring from Colma K-6 School at the end of the current school year and in October will be traveling "in retirement" in New England.

Asked to comment in an interview on the changes she has witnessed over almost four decades as a teacher, Miss Blaylock began:

"I started at the old Jefferson school — I've always taught in the Colma area—in August, 1925. We had six schools in the district and between 35 and 45 teachers."

She contrasted this with the present size of the district by recalling that shortly after she came to teach the district just managed to qualify for the state tenure law by meeting the requirement of 250 children in attendance.

Enrollment in the district now exceeds 9,006.

"And when I hear teachers talk about class size—large classes—I tell them they don't know what a large class is. We had very large classes and mixed grade levels," she recalled.

Miss Blaylock taught four grade levels her first year: low and high second, and low and high third. She observed:

"In those days we taught the same things but in a different way. We taught separate subjects, like civics, geography — now we teach social studies, which is good."

Explaining her reason for preferring the newer curriculum arrangement, she said:

"I think it suits the modern way of living better. Things are not so set. It lends itself to life as it is."

MISS BLAYLOCK was born in San Francisco but moved to Daly City in 1917. She graduated from the old Vista Grande School on Mission Street.

HESTER BLAYLOCK talks over an arithmetic problem with eight-year-old Mark Molina of 473 Castle Street. Mark is her third grade class representative to the student council. Miss Blaylock will retire in June from her post at Colma K-6 school, culminating a 39-year career in teaching. (Post-Times Photo)

During her many years of teaching, she has supplemented her San Francisco State College training by taking additional courses.

"No teacher can graduate now to teach without a degree. This was not the case when I began. The training for teachers now is more extensive."

As an example, she mentioned that San Francisco State will offer to district teachers two courses this coming year: one in the newer methods of teaching arithmetic, the other in Spanish.

And she noted that teaching foreign languages in the elementary school is an innovation.

"When I started teaching, we had no curriculum supervisors or consultants, and no curriculum library for films and instructional materials. Everything was more casual. Really, with these additions, teaching is easier now."

EVEN THOUGH she's retiring, the silver-haired, blue-eyed educator has not lost her enthusiasm for her profession.

"I was thinking this morning on my way to school," she recalled, "of the children I have taught who are now teachers, doctors, lawyers and judges."

Then, asked if she thought children today are any different than they were yesterday, she replied:

"Children are children and they're always pretty wonderful."

While she expects to be busy with her travels, and church and club activities for which she has previously never had time, Miss Blaylock is aware she is leaving behind something dear to her heart — her pupils.

"You know," she said quietly, "I know I'm going to miss them a lot."

S.S.F. Enters Clean Town Competition

South San Francisco will again compete for national recognition with cities across the United States for the National Cleanest Town Achievement Award, it was announced by Robert Lambertson, chairman of the 1964 citizens committee.

The city will compete with other communities with 25,000 to 50,000 population. In addition, a special award, regardless of population, will be given to the city which conducts the most effective campaign.

In 1962, the city gained national prominence by placing third in its population category. Last year, it received an honorable mention award.

"The name 'South San Francisco,' has become known from coast to coast for its efforts in this important community undertaking.

"Last year we were one of only two cities in California considered in the preliminary judging," Lambertson said.

The national awards are based on achievement and the degree of self-improvement in relation to seven objectives set by the National Clean Up Paint Up—Fix Up Bureau:

Home and community beautification; slum prevention; health and safety; juvenile decency; fire prevention; generation of civic pride, and economic development.

Lambertson declared that residents should start thinking now about what individual home improvements they can make.

Apartment Okay Asked

Preliminary plans for a new five-story 50 to 60-unit apartment building in the Sharp Park area just north of the Sharp Park golf course were presented to Pacifica planning commissioners by Ray Ferraris, builder, last week.

Ferraris appeared to discuss with commissioners a new ordinance now under study which will regulate construction of all high rise apartments.

Planners agreed that there is nothing in plans presented by Ferraris that would conflict with provisions of the new ordinance.

Planner James Supinger, however, was instructed to make a series of technical changes in the ordinance before it comes up for final consideration by commissioners.

One of the changes would limit the height of apartments in a new R-5 zoning classification to 35 feet or three stories within 150 feet of all single family and duplex zones.

The ordinance puts no height limitation on high rise apartments elsewhere.

Representatives of the Oddstad Development Company appeared to protest the amount of apartment zoning proposed for the southeastern section of the city in a proposed master plan for the area.

They also protested a proposed five-acre park in the area.

Commissioners agreed it would not be possible to approve a tentative map for the Park Pacifica Unit 1 tract until the southeastern study is officially adopted.

The Oddstad company proposes about half the apartments in the area that is recommended by city officials.

S.S.F. Wife Hangs Self With Scarf

A South San Francisco woman hanged herself in the garage of her home Thursday.

Mrs. Bluebelle Hughes, 51, was found in the garage by her husband, Bert, when he returned from work at 5 p.m. to their home at 232 Brentwood Drive.

Deputy Corner Robert Jessen said she had knotted a scarf around a roof beam. She had been dead several hours, said Jessen.

Jessen said she had made two previous suicide attempts within the past two years, both with pills.

Smith told Jessen his wife had been despondent, but that he did not know why.

She was a native of South Africa, a resident of California 30 years, and of this county 12 years.

Survivors include a daughter, Barbara, Sonoma; her mother, Mrs. Comfort Mast, Boise; two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Hill, Boise, and Mrs. Florence Finkston, Healdsburg; and a brother, Norman Jory, Lewiston, Idaho.

Graveside services were held Monday at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, under direction of the El Camino Funeral Chapel, San Bruno.

Wife Finds Mate Dead

A 67-year-old Daly City man was found dead hanging in the basement of his home by his wife Monday morning.

Investigators said the death was a suicide.

Dead is Ernst Bassler of 780 North Mayfair Drive, a retired baker.

Daly City Patrolman Gerald O'Donnell said Bassler's wife, Emelia, awoke about 7 a.m. and discovered her husband was gone.

She looked around the house and found his body in the basement. O'Donnell said Bassler had looped a length of clothesline over a water pipe.

Mrs. Bassler told O'Donnell that her husband had been worrying, apparently without cause, and that he had been despondent since his retirement a year ago.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

LOUD PRAISES are still being voiced, both locally and in San Francisco, over the bright, gay and beautifully youthful "High Jinx" presented by the senior class of Presentation High School in San Francisco.

Accepting well-deserved plaudits for her major contribution to the show's fantastic success (it was staged five times to capacity crowds) is Westlake's Joan Klein. "Stop the Castle, I Want to Get Off" was a delightful adaptation of "The Prince and the Pauper," containing 20 dance sequences for which Mrs. Klein did all the choreography. Story book dolls, queens, princesses, princes, court pages, town constables and moppets cavorted across the stage during the dance numbers, which proved to be among the show's most delightful moments.

Daly City's Rita Dunn, Susan Shuttle, Susan Renna, Rose Marie Thurston and Paulette Camous were among the more than 175 girls who began rehearsing with Mrs. Klein in February to have the show ready for its opening April 14. The girls worked with Mrs. Klein and student director Tony Canepa to perfect the dances and work out costume designs. The girls made their own costumes and the art classes of the school built the scenery and movable props, Mrs. Klein explained.

Localites who failed to see "Stop the Castle," will want to be sure to see the girls, again working with Mrs. Klein, perform for the school's annual musicale, which will feature the glee club as well as the dancers. The program will be held May 28 in the school auditorium and the public will be welcome.

It takes talent and considerable patience to work with such a large number of budding thespians and Joan Klein has an ample supply of each. A graduate of the San Francisco School of Ballet, she taught ballet to junior high and high school youngsters at Frances Hatch Park in the East Bay prior to her marriage.

Though she continued to study dancing with modern jazz interpreter Walter Biggerstoff and ballet with Sergi Temoff, she gave up her own teaching career almost three years ago. Since that time she has done considerable choreography work for the school as well as the work she has done training girls in dance technique as a part of the school's program of extra-curricular activities.

ANOTHER MUSICAL program planned for May 28 will feature the music of the Jefferson Elementary School District's honor orchestra and honor glee club, the recipient of a superior rating at the Music Educators Association Choral Festival held in San Jose April 25.

Lauren Abernethy directed the choral group during the rating session at San Jose City College when it was awarded the sixth superior rating bestowed upon the group in the five years the district has participated. Elda Black, choral instructor at Benjamin Franklin School, was the accompanist. Music co-ordinator for the district is Muriel Vint.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-use room of Benjamin Franklin School Robert Steele will conduct the honor orchestra and Miss Abernethy will direct the 97 members of the glee club.

SETTLING into their new home is the Frank Burn family. Long-time residents of Westlake, they have moved only a short distance to their new abode in the Westlake Estates section.

SPEEDY RECOVERY wishes are being sent to Westlake's Mrs. Harriet Middlebroow who is still convalescing from a case of mumps, which befell her in January.*

MRS. ANTHONY CAIN will be honored as the uotgoing president of the Holy Angels Women's Guild during a banquet planned for May 14.

The deadline for reservations to attend the affair, being held in Brentwood Lodge, is Tuesday and all guild members are urged to contact Mrs. Carol Meyer at PL 6-5565 if they plan to attend.

Guild members are also asked to reserve May 24 for the annual mother-son breakfast to be held in the Friar Room of Serra Bowl following the 8 a.m. mass. Though the breakfast will honor mothers and sons, all members of the guild are invited to attend, according to Sue Sheerin, publicity director for the guild.

IT IS NOT TOO EARLY to make plans for those idle hours youngsters will have after school recesses for the summer, according to Mrs. Dorothy Delman, director of Lakeside Presbyterian Church's vacation church school.

Mrs. Delman said youngsters from five through 11 years of age are welcome to attend classes, which will be held June 14 to 26 in the Westminster wing of the church, located on Nineteenth Avenue and Eucalyptus Drive in San Francisco.

More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Laurence Rogers at PL 6-2139 or Mrs. Laurence Burn at PL 5-0596.

THE THIRD ANNUAL Furniture Fashions Exposition will be previewed by the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association May 15, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in Brooks Hall in the San Francisco Civic Center, according to Mrs. Murray H. Freedman of Westlake who is in charge of publicity for the event.

Radio and TV personalities Enrico Banducci, Frank Dill, Jim Dunbar, Fred Goerner, Bud Haley, Jackie Jensen, Rolfe Peterson, Captain Satellite and Dick Stewart will be among the candidates in the fashion show and favorite host contest to be held during the evening.

Those who won't be able to be on hand for the champaigne preview may still have a part in selecting the favorite Host with the Most contest by sending 10 cents for each vote they wish to cast for their candidate to Golden Gate Nursery Schools, 570 Union Street, San Francisco. All proceeds of the event will benefit Golden Gate Nursery Schools, which provides complete day care for needy children. Tickets for the May 15 gala are $3. For more information, contact Mrs. Richard Rossi at PL 6-9401 or Mrs. Charles Cooper at SK 2-7455.

MEMBERS OF Westlake Senior Citizens Club will tour Luther Burbank Gardens in Santa Rosa next Wednesday morning and then proceed to Asti, where they will have a lunch in Italian Swiss Colony Winery's picnic grounds, according to group treasurer Willard Wagner.

Persons over 50 who are interested in the club and its activities are urged to call Wagner at PL 6-6235 for more information.

BUSY WITH artistic plans for the decoration of Our Lady of Perpetual Help School hall are Joseph Valcazar and John Muller who are in charge of decorations and hall setup for the parish festival to be held May 15, 16 and 17 to benefit the parish improvement fund.

MODELING clothes they'll wear at a fashion show and roast beef luncheon Saturday are these members of the Altar Society of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica, left to right: Mrs. Samuel Blackwell, Mrs. Paul Suez, president of the society and chairman of the show and Mrs. Vincent Stone. The program will be held at noon in Nick's Restaurant in Rockaway Beach. Clothes will be provided by The Fashion of Westlake. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. David Evans at 359-2177.

April Bride

MRS. ALBERT ZAVATERRO

Joyce Ann Volpatti Is Bride

Wedding bells rang in Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City for Joyce Ann Volpatti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ciardella of 183 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, and Albert N. Zavattero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Natale Zavaterro of San Francisco.

The bride wore a full length gown of empire sheath of embroidered Swiss silk organza with detachable organza train. She carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Tony Friscia. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Harold Fick Jr., Mrs. William Richardson and Toni Bottari.

The groom's best man was Tony Friscia. Ushers were Tim Walsh, Dan Buckley and Eric Schou.

The couple will live in San Francisco after a honeymoon in Acapulco, Mexico.

Parkway P-TA Seats Officers

These officers have been installed by the Parkway School P-TA in South San Francisco:

Mrs. Andrew Commick, president; Mrs. J. J. Cardinale, vice president; Frank McNutt, honorary vice president; Mrs. Reed Atkinson, recording secretary; Mrs. Steven Piazzo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bruno Crociani, treasurer; Mrs. Sam Nilmeyer, auditor, and Mrs. J. Bonini, historian.

Heights P-TA Plans Annual Spring Event

The Pacific Heights P-TA will hold its annual spring festival in the school auditorium at 9:45 a.m. Monday.

Students from kindergarten through the sixth grade will participate under the leadership of their teachers. Mrs. Mary Sundberg, opportunity and resource teacher, is the co-ordinator of the festival.

A brief P-TA meeting will precede the program to review and approve a new budget and also to approve a newly-adopted theme and objectives set by the executive board for the coming year.

Watercolor Art To Be Discussed

The Art Guild of Pacifica will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the American Legion Hall in Rockaway Beach. Elijah Gentry and Phyllis Germaine will be hosts.

Nat Levy will be the guest speaker. He will demonstrate a watercolor technique. He is president of the Society of Western Artists and president of the West Coast Watercolor Society.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS:

THE CAUSE OF CAVITIES

The cause of cavities is not known, but most dentists agree sugar is considered as one of the possible factors. This is not the whole answer, but it is important to remember that if we are going to face facts, we may have to limit or even eliminate the sugar in our diet for the sake of our teeth. The problem is a great one. Among sugar containing items are many of the fruits, fruit juices, and vegetables. Even skimmed milk contains about 5% sugar. The list is almost endless, and includes such things as cookies, candies, soft drinks, pies, cakes, ice cream, jams, jellies, etc. Ask your dentist about the amount of sugar permissible for the health of your teeth. Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

South San Francisco plumber Robert Franklin Brown, who lived through battles against the Nazis with the Dutch underground during World War II, lost his life last week to cancer. He died at Fort Miley Veterans Hospital in San Francisco.

Brown, 43, of 384 Avalon Drive, was a native of Oakland and a resident of South San Francisco eight years. He was a member of Plumbing and Pipefitting Union Local 38.

As a World War II fighter pilot, he crashed in Holland, then refused to escape, despite several opportunities.

Instead, he joined the underground and helped the Dutch sabotage vital Nazi installations.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

LOUD PRAISES are still being voiced, both locally and in San Francisco, over the bright, gay and beautifully youthful "High Jinx" presented by the senior class of Presentation High School in San Francisco.

Accepting well-deserved plaudits for her major contribution to the show's fantastic success (it was staged five times to capacity crowds) is Westlake's Joan Klein. "Stop the Castle, I Want to Get Off" was a delightful adaptation of "The Prince and the Pauper," containing 20 dance sequences for which Mrs. Klein did all the choreography. Story book dolls, queens, princesses, princes, court pages, town constables and moppets cavorted across the stage during the dance numbers, which proved to be among the show's most delightful moments.

D. C. Building Dips

Construction in Daly City took a dip during the month of April, according to figures released by the Daly City building inspector's office.

A total of 77 permits for new construction estimated to cost $633,902 was issued last month. This compares with 103 permits and estimated construction costs of $1,328,790 during March.

April was the slowest month since January when 77 permits also were issued. The estimated cost of new construction in January, however, was only $456,748.

In last month's total, permits for 11 new homes and six new apartment houses were included. The 11 homes are expected to cost $167,300 to construct, the six new apartment houses with a total of 78 units are estimated to cost $276,050.

The biggest difference between the last two months was the construction of 34 new homes during March. The estimated cost of the homes was $509,989.

April's 77 permits brought the cumulative total for 1964 to 261. The estimated cumulative cost of 1964 construction is $2,875,539.

Also included in April's permits were two duplexes to be built by the Argyle Construction Company at 428-89th Street and 385-88th Street at an estimated cost of $41,000.

Gas Leak Is Discovered

South San Francisco firemen were called to All Souls' School Friday to investigate a gas leak in the furnace system.

The pilot-light system was malfunctioning and the light had gone out, allowing a small amount of gas to escape, firemen said. Repairmen from Pacific Gas and Electric were called to fix the system.

There was no danger and students at the school were not evacuated because the gas dissipated rapidly

The Burglar Was Brazen

A brazen thief stole checks and cash totaling $277 from the Gobar Medical Center across the street from Daly City Police Headquarters, police reported last week.

They said the burglar apparently hid inside the building prior to closing. There was no sign of forced entry.

Missing was $121 in bills, $5 in coin and $151 in checks from a cash box in a doctor's office on the first floor.

Service Gets Adjustments

Limited adjustments in some postal services ordered by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski to save $12.7 million will take effect in Daly City beginning Monday, Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy of Daly City announces.

Service adjustments will include five-day-per-week parcel post delivery, with deliveries adjusted east of Junipero Serra on Tuesdays and west of Junipero Serra on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Window service on Saturdays, beginning on Saturday, May 9, 1964 will be from 8 a.m. to noon in all stations, and will provide full postal service except money orders, claims postage meter settings and box rents. Money order services will be given Monday through Friday, Murphy stated.

Murphy emphasized that no essential major postal services will be affected under these orders. Delivery service will continue as usual with preferential mails still receiving priority.

This economy step, Murphy explained, is in conjunction with President Johnson's programs under which the recent federal income tax cut was provided the public.

Teenage Drama Group Scores in 'Clown'

Theater Review

By PHYLLIS CLEMENTS

An amazingly professional production of "The Clown Who Ran Away" by the Teen-age Drama Workshop delighted an audience of children and parents Saturday at Colma K-6 school.

Warmest praise is due the Daly City Recreation Department, which sponsors the group, and workshop director Nedra J. Merrick.

Not only was the play well done but the choice of so appropriate a play for children showed excellent judgment. Too often "children's plays" are simply not suitable for children.

The lead role of Dodo the Clown was so skillfully acted by Gail Land that children from the audience spontaneously responded to her with such comments as:

"Dodo, can I have your apple?" and, more excitedly: "Dodo, Dodo, they went that way!"

Miss Land artfully ad-libbed to these outbursts, accepting them, as well she should, as the utmost in praise.

Flip Reade as the policeman also was outstanding. His antics and sense of timing were never off—a rare attribute in an amateur and in one so young besides.

It would be difficult to match the outstanding performances of Miss Land and Reade, however, and the Live Dolls labored under this handicap.

Good theater for children is a rarity. This season's San Francisco Children's Opera Association productions and "Pinocchio" by the San Francisco State College Children's Theater are examples of the frequent failures.

And yet a real need exists in every community for a capable company able to offer children the experiences unique to legitimate drama.

That Miss Merrick has succeeded so well and with teenagers makes one grateful that Daly City is so uniquely fortunate to have developed such a quality group.

The San Francisco Zoological Society has invited the workshop to perform "The Clown" this summer at the children's park. Details are to be arranged.

Having taken my four-year-old and three of her playmates with large feelings of foreboding—rapidly displaced with pleasure and delight—I recommend the final performance of the play this Saturday, at 2 p.m. at Bayshore School.

D.C. Chorus Auditioning

The Daly City Community Chorus is auditioning for male members. The chorus needs six additional male voices to achieve a better balance in both volume and tonal quality.

Rehearsals are held each Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Westmoor Park Clubhouse at 123 Edgemont Drive, Daly City.

The chorus is open to any resident of Daly City, Broadmoor or Colma. It is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

DEATHS

S.S.F. Veteran, Former Resistance Fighter, Dies

South San Francisco plumber Robert Franklin Brown, who lived through battles against the Nazis with the Dutch underground during World War II, lost his life last week to cancer. He died at Fort Miley Veterans Hospital in San Francisco.

Brown, 43, of 384 Avalon Drive, was a native of Oakland and a resident of South San Francisco eight years. He was a member of Plumbing and Pipefitting Union Local 38.

As a World War II fighter pilot, he crashed in Holland, then refused to escape, despite several opportunities.

Instead, he joined the underground and helped the Dutch sabotage vital Nazi installations.

He won many warm friendships with his courage, and those friendships lave lasted.

Last July, two of his wartime resistance fighter friends came to see him, Frank Dell, all the way from England, and their chief, Jon Ket, from Holland.

He told them then that he had cancer, and only had a month or so to live.

Later, he made his own funeral arrangements, and Thursday he died of cancer of the abdomen.

He leaves his wife, Martha; a daughter, Karen; a son, Michael; and two sisters, Mrs. Alma Boroff, San Jose, and Mrs. Lorraine Spinelli, Menlo Park.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Larson Garden Chapel. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

GLADYS E. HADLEY

Funeral services will be held today for Gladys E. Hadley of 8 Coronado Avenue, Daly City, by Duggan's Serra Mortuary on Junipero Serra Boulevard at 8:30 a.m.

A native of Minneapolis, she was 62. She is survived by her husband, Fred A. Hadley; her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Anne Schlemmer of Mill Valley; two sons, Richard Hadley of Denver and Gregory Hadley of Belmont, a brother Warren Bingham of Hayward and a sister, Mrs. Elmer Kublank of Shell Rock, Ia.

Following the funeral service at Duggan's Serra Mortuary, a requiem mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Mercy Church. Interment will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

VIRGINIA ROSE GERACI

A native of San Francisco, she lived in California all her life.

Funeral services were held by the W. C. Laswell Chapel and a requiem mass was celebrated at Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Italian Cemetery in Colma.

Nurse Held For Stealing Life Savings

A San Francisco nurse, who allegedly took advantage of her friendship with an elderly Daly City woman to steal her life's savings has been charged with four counts of grand theft.

The suspect, Ann Kangas, 57, was arrested in her San Francisco apartment. Coroner Paul B. Jensen said she had been the object of a widespread search since February.

Miss Kangas, according to Jensen, insisted that the victim, Mrs. Edith Gilmore, 82, of 52 Vista Grande Avenue, Daly City, had given her the money, a total of $6,300. But, Jensen said, Mrs. Gilmore, a widow, has been officially incompetent for several yars and is unable to handle her own affairs.

Jensen, who entered the case as public guardian, reported the alleged thefts occurred over the period of a year in 1961 and 1962. Until 1961, Jensen said, Mrs. Gilmore had been receiving old age security checks. Then it was discovered that she had $6,300 in a Pittsburgh bank. Because the limit for OAS recipients is $1,200, the welfare payments were cut off.

Miss Kangas, according to the coroner, had been a friend of Mrs. Gilmore since 1959 and called on her frequently. The money in the Pittsburgh bank was drawn out in four cashier's checks, apparently endorsed by Mrs. Gilmore and then deposited in Miss Kangas' account in a Portland bank.

SAW SET STOLEN

A saw set belonging to Emmett J. Blincoe of 486 Woodrow Street, Daly City, was reported stolen last week while it was parked in front of 137 Miriam Street, Blincoe told Daly City police the set was worth approximately $800.

Bright Lights BY Lloyd Johnson

E. Romano of Rockaway Alarms His Doctor

ENRICO ROMANO, Rockaway Beach pizza and Italian food champ, reported for his annual physical examination, the other day, and his doctor pronounced him in perfect physical condition—but told him he should quit smoking. This is a big sacrifice, but he took a pack of cigarettes from his pocket, and left them with the doctor. "No, no," the doctor said in alarm. "Don't leave them here. I've been trying to quit for three weeks." . . . Those beautiful arrangements of fresh cut flowers at Phil Lehr's Steakery are the work of his wife, Ronnie. The flowers come from the gardens of the Peninsula home . . . Construction is now under way at A. Sabella's Fisherman's Wharf Capri Room on a new banquet room which will seat up to 350 persons; also an executive room to accommodate another 60. A. Sabella's, long known as "Best for Banquets," will serve banquets as usual during construction. Dinner-dancing in the Capri Room to Joe Marcellino and his orchestra Monday through Saturday; luncheon served daily.

E. Romano

Festive feast in store for Mother's Day diners at Foster's Pancake and Chicken House. Also a "festive price" for the occasion . . . Moar's Cafeteria will repeat the selective menu for Mother's Day that proved so popular at Easter time. You can be sure that mom will be pleased with the "goodies" served here. . . . A delicious salad dressing that's here to stay is the New Tivoli's "I-Lov-It." Served in the restaurant and available for home take out. . . . One of the many delightful places in San Francisco to plan your Mother's Day dinner is George Mardikian's Omar Khayam's restaurant. You'll enjoy service, atmosphere, and food seldom found in any land.

Full Course Dinner In Check Room

The party held at Nick's in Rockaway Beach in honor of Joe Verducci who is running for San Mateo County 5th District Supervisor, will go down in Owner Nick Gust's restaurant book as one of the biggest in the club's history. Nick had guests sitting and standing in every nook and corner. In fact, I had to enjoy my dinner in Mary Ann Hay's check room.

Vince Licata will take a "safari" to the Reno-Lake Tahoe territory this weekend, to view just about every show in the funland area. Also to see if he can discover more pearls in the oysters served at the Nugget in Sparks (East Reno).

A friend asked steak man Lew Lehr, a golf nut, if he hit a long ball. His snappy reply: "No, I hit a little round one."

Show a Big Hit

Finocchio's unusual musical revue, "Academy Awards in Song," has entered the fifth month of its run in San Francisco and is still going strong. This is one of the very best shows Joe Finocchio has presented in recent years and it is an attraction worthy of being on every show lovers' must-see list. It is distinctly a laugh show plus a lot of lavishness in the way of costuming and production.

Gladys Garcia, Sinaloa's exotic dancer, performs a combination of "Swim" belly dance and Cha Cha Cha. Not individually, but all at once. In Mexico City, this young lady is known as 'The fastest Miss on ten toes" and her reputation is unchallenged in the Bay Area.

One thing for sure: There are almost as many men in attendance for the Friday Surf House fashion shows as there are women. Took some pictures of last weekend's activities and will send them your way, via "Bright Lights," next Friday. Target your luncheons here — you're sure to have fun.

Betty Sedam, general manager of the Mountain View Caravan Inn, has an extra surprise for Mother's Day breakfast and brunch dinners: Special champagne treat — along with Eggs Benedict. During the dinner hours, champagne will be served to all mothers.

Take Mother "To Paris"

Why not take mother on a "Trip to Paris" Sunday, May 10. Frank Dennison, general manager of the Sheraton Villa Hotel, one of the show places of San Mateo, offers Parisian atmosphere and food to match in the swank new French Room. A reservation phone call to Maitre 'd Walter will assure you of a table.

According to Hyatt House general manager the way tickets are being sold for the forth coming theater musicals, there will be many folks "left at the post" if they don't purchase subscription ticket books before many weeks go by—even though the first production, "Flower Drum Song," is scheduled for a September 15 opening.

Dinner reservations are also being accepted for this gala event. With the soon-to-be-added dining and entertainment space, the Hyatt House promises to be one of the "hottest" theater-restaurants on the coast.

When it's your turn to entertain guests, eliminate the fuss and muss by phoning DI 2-9101. Keith Williamson of Keith's Chicken & Steak House will take over the kitchen duties. In less time than it takes to boil water, Keith will have a full course dinner at your front door that's piping hot and ready to serve.

Yesterday's Styles

A DISPLAY of fashions, typical of those sold by H. Liebes 100 years ago, will be featured at the Westlake Shopping Center store through Saturday. The women's apparel store chain, still owned and operated by the Liebes family, is celebrating its 100th year in business. Ann Orr, manager of the Westlake store, adjusts the collar of one of the fashions on display in the window of the store. (Post-Times Photo)

Activities in Pacifica Set

The Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department has announced a number of activities.

The Terra Nova High School gym will be open Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for adults only. The activity will be basketball. No showers or locker room facilities will be available. The gym will close on June 4.

Two openings in the Lob-Ball League exist. The league is open to teen-agers and adults and will begin play on May 18.

The Terra Nova gym will be open to teen-agers on Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. with the activity being basketball. Teen club members will be admitted free.

The pool at Terra Nova is open every Sunday, weather permitting from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is 40 cents for adults, 35 cents for high school students and 25 cents for children.

More information may be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at 355-4151.

CARBURETOR STOLEN

William Geiss of 141 Westlawn Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that someone had stolen the carburetor from his auto, parked in front of his home.

D.C.-Palace Meeting Set

A meeting between the Daly City Council and the board of directors of the Cow Palace will be held next Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Cow Palace.

Officials of the city and the sports arena will discuss mutual problems.

'Hire a Vet' Week Slated

The annual observance of "Hire a Veteran Week" will be celebrated beginning Sunday, according to Frank Davis, chairman of the Veteran's Advisory Committee of the State Department of Employment.

Two Daly City residents have been honored with citations for their efforts in behalf of hiring veterans. The first was the late Blaine Glendening in 1960; the following year Vincent Murphy, postmaster of Daly City.

Davis said: "Employers are urged to give consideration to the qualifications of veterans when they consider employing help or have job openings."

Under the law the State Department of Employment must give preference in job referrals to veterans so employers will be helping veterans if they place their orders for help with the department, he said.

BETTER BUSINESS

Value Claims Can Be Phony

By LORENE BEASELEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

"THREE HOURS ONLY! Bring This Ad! Save $18.55. Nothing Cheap About the Watch Except the Price," read the advertisement.

For centuries, man's gullibility has been exploited by promoters selling merchandise through the tempting "something-for-nothing" appeal.

Sensible and cautious people continue to deal with the "here-today-gone-tomorrow merchant who periodically shows up around the country, rents store space for a few hours, conducts a sale, fleeces the public and then folds up his packing case and disappears.

The Better Business Bureau, an organization set up by business men to work on both local and national levels to build and strengthen public understanding and confidence in one of our most cherished freedoms, the right of free enterprise, furnishes a guide line for business to keep within the bounds of ethical sales and service in advertising.

On numerous occasions, the Bureau has been able to halt illegal operations before the customer was ever aware that something was wrong with his contemplated purchase.

THE WATCH advertisement had all the ear marks of false pricing. The Bureau warned the businessman who had rented the store space to the promoter that he was, in all probability, violating Section 17500 of the California Business and Professions Code.

Local law enforcement agencies were alerted of the three hour sale, but the promoter could not be apprehended until fraud was established.

A Bureau investigator shopped the sale. Taking the watch to a reputable jeweler, he was informed the "genuine $24.50 brand new Swiss import jeweled quality wrist watch" was worth exactly what had been paid for it, $5.95. The "amazing value" was a one jewel watch.

THE WATCH DID carry a two year guarantee, as advertised. The watch could not, however, be returned to the store where purchased, but had to be sent direct to an authorized repair service in New York City.

The service was good within two years from date of purchase for $1.45 which included labor, handling, insurance, etc. Only Postal Money Orders were acceptable.

One victim reported to the Bureau that his watch had stopped running within one week after purchase.

He had returned it twice with the required $1.45 but the third time the watch was thrown away as a bad investment.

The Better Business Bureau warns: Do not be misled into thinking you are getting a bargain by fictitious value claims.

When comparatives such as "Best Value in USA" etc. are far above the going price in the trade area, this alone is grounds for suspicion.

ST. FRANCIS SQUARE

New Restaurant Plans Opening

A new unit in a national restaurant chain, Little Pigs of America, will open in the St. Francis Square Shopping Center about May 20.

The restaurant will specialize in barbecued pork and beef sandwiches as well as chicken, spare ribs and hickory-smoked hamburgers.

The new outlet will be managed by George Campbell, a native of San Francisco who attended the hotel and restaurant school at City College of San Francisco.

His appointment was announced by Sal-Zig Corporation of San Francisco.

The company plans to open another Little Pigs of America restuarant in Daly City at a later date as well as five other units in Monterey, Carmel, Salinas and Santa Cruz.

Little Pigs of America is a franchise operation of more than 200 restaurants situated throughout the country.

All cooking at the new St. Francis Square restaurant will be done over a hickory-smoke charcoal pit.

The restaurant will have seating facilities and a take-out service. It also will feature barbecue and catering services.

Postmaster Gives Club ZIP Talk

The Post Office Department's ZIP code was defined last week by Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy of Daly City as an economy measure to cope with the mounting mail volume nationally and to reduce rising costs of mail services.

At a meeting of the Lake Merced Optimists Club, held at Sai Wu Restaurant in the Westlake Shopping Center, Postmaster Murphy labelled the program as the only economical answer to what Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has termed "the mail explosion of the 1960s and 1970s."

Murphy, who explained the increased work load of the post offices, pointed out that without ZIP programs, a skyrocketing of costs in personnel, space and rates would be the logical results.

He said by "leap-frogging" mail from point of origin to point of delivery, costs have been materially reduced, and deliveries speeded up.

He further pointed out to the Optimists that with automated scanning and sorting devices, further reductions in costs and an increased efficiency is the result.

TAIL LIGHTS STOLEN

Frank Parrick of 355 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that both rear tail lights of his auto had been stolen.

RAYMOND A. WELCH
New Vice President

Welch Named To Post at Systematic

Raymond A. Welch has joined Systematic Savings and Loan Association of Daly City as vice president.

He had been treasurer for Gibralter Savings and Loan Association of Beverly Hills for six years.

His new association with Systematic was announced by John J. Wuerthner, president of the savings firm. Wuerthner said Welch will be in full charge of the real estate loan program. And he noted:

"Mr. Welch comes to us with invaluable experience in this field and will be a most important part of our long range program to better serve Daly City in the expanding home loan and commercial real estate development field."

A graduate of Wayne University, Welch completed a graduate course conducted by the Savings and Loan Institute and attended the graduate school of savings and loan at Indiana University.

In addition, he has taken summer study courses in business management at Stanford University.

He has been active in professional societies as vice president of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Society of Savings and Loan Controllers and also chairman of the Western Regional Conference of the society.

Before joining the Beverly Hills firm, he was controller of Perpetual Savings and Loan Association.

He and his wife, Ronna, and their three children recently moved to Daly City from Southern California.

'Americana' Theme Set For Program

"Americana" will be the theme of the Annual Spring Music Festival to be presented by Westmoor High School Friday in the gymnasium.

The singing of "Milk and Honey" by a selected girls chorus will set the tone of the program which will include selections by the dance and concert bands. An original composition and arrangement entitled "Reflections," by Westmoor student Charles Brickley will be played by the dance band.

Also featured will be vocalists Francine Cosma, Sharon Marshall and Marsha Hart, who will tour the American cities and states in song, baton twirlers Susan Damonte and Linda Leiknes, dancer Sue Walsh, who will do a "soft shoe" routine to selections from Walt Disney's "Summer Magic" and tap dancer Kathy Scanlon.

The Top Ten

Here is a list of the top 10 tunes, teen-agers in the North County are listening to, according to reports from local record stores.

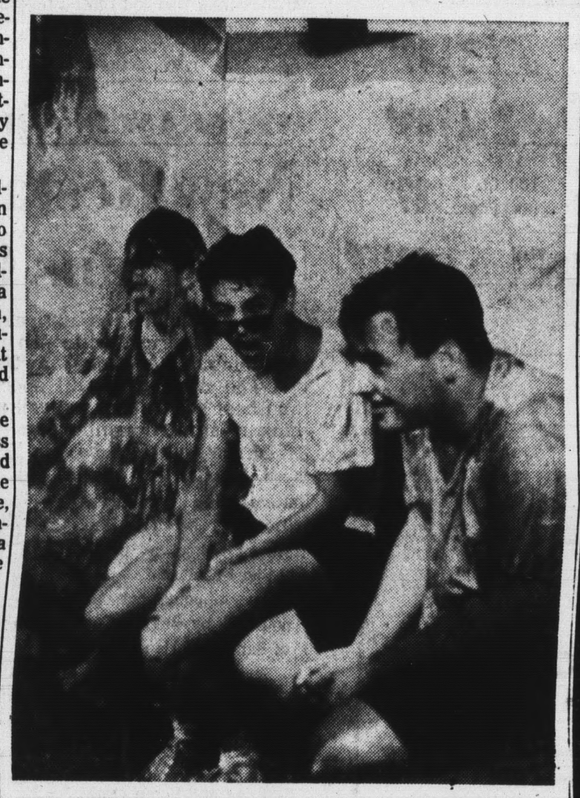
News of North County Teen-agers

All Wet



THIS GROUP of seniors came in for a continual round of dunkings at the First Spring Festival at Jefferson High School. Students and teachers were able to get rid of frustrations against them by throwing coins into cups. The festival was termed a success by both students and teachers. Terry Jew gets an unwanted drink of water while Rumulo Arriola, center, and Mike Keough breath a sigh of relief. Their turn came later. (Post-Times Photo)

SECOND YEAR

Teen Clubs Set City-Wide Dance

The Junior Teen Clubs of the Daly City Recreation Department will hold their second annual "Springfest" Saturday night at the War Memorial Community Center.

Theme of the city-wide dance is "The Sounds of Music."

KYA disc jockey Bill Keffury will emcee the "Springfest," which will be highlighted by the inter-club competition in five contest areas.

Festivities will begin at 6:45 p.m. and are slated to end at 10 p.m. Dress for the evening will be summery dresses for girls and slacks and sport coat or sweater for boys.

Wilfred O'Rourke, chairman of the Daly City Recreation Commission will present the "Springfest Perpetual Trophy to the chairman of the winning club. Last year's winner were the Majestics.

Competing in the king and queen contest are Yvonne Guerra and Tony Uribarri for the Bovines; Alena Maura and Barry Perrone for the Casualiers; Linda Herbert and Carl Campos for the Imperials; Barbara Kucer and John Bamont for the Know Names, Joyce Sadaoka and Tony Schrock for the Majestics, and Leisle Herlieksen and Mike Rege for the Telestar.

In the slow dance contest will be Carole White and John Sekulich for the Bovines, Lynn Hillman and Mario Jiminez for the Casualiers, Marylou Cordova and Junior Rebarber for the Imperials, Teresa Harlan and Lance DeRoo for the Know Names, Donna King and Chris Fontenot for the Majestics and Sheila Albrecht and Marty Lorvin for the Telestars.

Terra Nova Topics

By CATHIE REED

OH, THE GROANS were sickening the Monday after daylight savings time went into affect. It brings tears to the eyes watching those bleary-eyed kids march dourfully up the stairs in an attempt to open their lockers before first period.

There were a few kids who just couldn't make it, and either stayed home or came an hour late. The sun has even turned traitor. No matter how early you drag yourself out of bed, it's shining in your eyes.

There was a nice funny man here not long ago to entertain us. He tried very hard at it, too. Mr. Randen is a combined scientist, musician and entertainer. It makes a brilliant combination if each ingredient has an equal part, but the poor guy was mostly scientist and musician.

He plays his own rendition of jazz and Hawaiian numbers on a rigged steel guitar, a rigged ukelele, and a rubber band. A very talented person.

SPRING GOT off to a lousy start for Terra Novans. There was a very important teachers meeting recently, so everyone went home at 12:10 and it was so foggy and windy nobody could or would go to the beach. It's perking up though, for lots of people in the various clubs on campus.

The Future Teachers of America saw a movie entitled, "A Desk for Billie." The junior English classes under Miss Nelson went to see 'America, America," and the C. S. F. members went on their annual field trip, which included a tour of U. S. F., watching the Tennessee Ernie Ford Show at the studio, and a play, "Enter Laughing."

Since report cards came out recently, everyone is waiting with baited breath for school to be over so they can get off restriction. We only have about a month to go.

D.C. Marine Given Medal

A daly City Marine has been awarded the coveted American Spirit of Honor Medal.

He is Pfc. James M. Ahern, 22, son of Mrs. Joan Mitchell of 571 Lausanne Street, Daly City. He is pictured above, preparing to make a rope climb during basic training while his platoon commander, S/Sgt. T. B. Warren, looks on.

The medal is donated by the Citizen's Committee for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

It is awarded to enlisted men and women who display outstanding qualities of honor, initiative and loyalty and act as examples to their fellow recruits.

Sgt. Warren said Ahern was "hard working, dedicated and paid close attention to the performing of his duties."

Before joining the Marine Corps, Ahern attended San Francisco State College for three years, majoring in physical education.

The Marine will be stationed at the Marine Aviation Detachment, Naval Air Technical Training Center in Memphis, where he will undergo training in the aviation field.

Pacifica Man Is Robbed in Home

Three youths who gained entry into a mechanic's Pacifica home Monday night with the pretense they wanted an auto repaired robbed him of almost $300 in cash, his wrist watch and his bank and check books after tieing him up with a cord from a coffee pot and his own tie and trousers.

Robert J. Pesek, 43, 456 Paloma Avenue, told investigating officers the apparent leader of the bandit trio threatened, "I outta put a bullet in your head for lying'" after his two companions found $220 in twenty-dollar bills in a small box hidden in a living room bookcase after Pesek told him he had no money in the house other than $45 in his wallet which the robbers had already taken.

According to Pesek, the three young men, all dressed in black jackets and black pants, came to his home about 10:30 p.m. and asked if he repaired cars in his spare time.

After Pesek let them into the home, two of the youths asked to use the bathroom. When they returned to the living room a few minutes later both were wearing black gloves, he said. When he turned around the third man was holding a .38 calibre revolver. When the leader asked him for money, Pesek said he told them there was some in his wallet in the bedroom.

Ordering Pesek to lie down on the floor, the men tied him up and then began a through search of the home. In addition to the $220 in the box and $45 in his wallet, the trio discovered another $5 in a pint beer can used as a bank. Pesek said the three also took his wrist watch before leaving.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

The columns at heights give the elevation or each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U .S. Coast and Geodetic Survey)
